Anti-DDT Report Hushed By USDA, Nelson Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord A. Nelson has charged the Department of Agriculture with sitting on a report condemning the general use of DDT.

Agriculture officials denied any such report exists, but did announce Wednesday the department had ordered a temporary halt in the use of nine persistent or long-lasting pesticides—including DDT—in government pest control programs.

The Wisconsin Democrat called on Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin to ban use of the toxic pesticide altogether.

Nelson said the department has kept the report quiet because "they haven't done anything about it."

Dr. G. W. Irving Jr., administrator of the USDA's agricultural research service, and Harry W. Hays, director of the pesticides regulation division, said no such recommendations have been made to Hardin.

"If there had been a report I would have known about it," Irving said.

Nelson acknowledged the report may not yet have reached

Hardin's desk. But he added: "there is no doubt in my mind the report exists."

He contended the department's temporary halt to use of DDT in its own programs was a "ridiculous palliative" designed to assuage public opinion.

Nelson said Hardin set up a special intradepartmental committee to study the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council Report On Persistent Pesticides.

The USDA committee recommended a ban on aerial dusting with DDT and use of the pesticide in "aquatic areas"—near lakes, rivers and streams, he said.

Nelson has contended DDT is contaminating America's waters—especially in the Great Lakes area—and poisoning the environment for fish, wildlife and even man.

Thunderstorms Hammer Plains; Damage Heavy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms dumped more rain into the already soggy middle Mississippi Valley today after hammering sections of Kansas and Missouri with punishing winds, hail and sudden downpours.

Damage to industrial plants alone was estimated at more than $5 million from winds in excess of 80 miles an hour which pounded the Kansas City area Wednesday night.

Trees and power lines were torn down in many sections of the city during the storm. Sudden, heavy rains accompanying the storm brought flash flooding.

Hailstones, varying in size from golfballs to baseballs, rattled down on Kansas City.

Tornadoes dipped into portions of eastern Kansas, but there were reports of injuries from the twisters.

Wind gusts were clocked at 120 miles an hour at the Lawrence, Kan., airport.

Nearly 2½ inches of rain swamped Belleville, Kan., in one hour. Up to 4 inches poured into portions of Missouri. Many of the same communities were hit by similar heavy rains earlier this week.

The Mississippi in Missouri Rivers—fed by regular and generally heavy rains over the last two weeks—rose well above flood stage at many points.

Thousands of acres of farmland, much of it lush with well-advanced spring crops, was under water. An estimated 11,000 acres of corn, soybeans and wheat were flooded in Ste. Genevieve County, Mo., when river

Monk's Death Due To Chill

HONOLULU (AP) — Bonny, the astronaut, died of a heart attack probably brought on by his lowered body temperature, says a preliminary report issued following a six-hour autopsy by a dozen scientists.

A final autopsy report on the monkey which died 12 hours after returning to earth is not expected for months, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Wednesday.

Dr. W. Ross Adey, the space project's chief investigator said the fatal drop in Bonny's temperature may have been due to his immobilization in weightlessness and a too-cool capsule during the nearly nine-day flight.

Temperatures in the tiny spacepod ranged from 68 to 70 degrees, but Adey said astronauts have complained of being too chilly when their capsule was kept at 70 degrees.

Bonny's flight in Biosatellite 3 was scheduled for 30 days to study the effects of extended weightlessness, but was cut short when Bonny became listless.

In Amman, a spokesman said Jordanians and Israeli forces clashed for 15 minutes at Adlasiya in the northern Jordan Valley today.

SAIGON (AP) — The first contingent of U.S. Marines to be withdrawn from Vietnam flew to Okinawa today as military spokesmen reported the lowest weekly number of American battle deaths in almost six months.

The Marines left with none of the fanfare accorded departing U.S. infantrymen three days ago. An advance party of 120 Leathernecks of the 9th Regiment departed from Quang Tri, a base 20 miles south of the demilitarized zone, in two four-engine transports.

They included 60 combat waters spilled over a temporary levee.

Waterfront streets at Hannibal, Mo., were inundated when the Mississippi passed a predicted crest of 22 feet several hours ahead of schedule Wednesday night. No extensive damage was reported, however.

Outside the midcontinent storm belt, clear skies were in abundance.

Heat and humidity blanketed the South with little interruption, even at night. For many communities it was the third week of such conditions.

Water shortages were reported at a number of points in Texas where the mercury soared past 100 again Wednesday. Several Fort Worth suburbs called for strict rationing of available water supplies.

In contrast, an almost autumnlike chill continued in the interior of the Northeast, where Houlton, Maine cooled down to 43 well before dawn.

Nickel Strike May Cripple Steel Output

3 Continents To Be Affected By Long Walkout

TORONTO (AP) — More than 17,200 members of the United Steelworkers of America began a work stoppage today at the two main Ontario plants of the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd.

As bargaining for a new three-year contract and higher wages continued in a Toronto hotel, workers did not show up for the day shift at Sudbury and Port Colborne-Inco plants. A total of 15,500 are employed by Inco in Sudbury and 1,700 at Port Colborne.

A company spokesman said picket lines were set up.

The company is the world's largest supplier of nickel. The strike would dry up production and cripple the steel industry on three continents.

The company produces 40 per cent of the world's nickel, used to harden steel. A prolonged strike could cripple the production of everything from silverware to jet engines in the United States, Canada, Japan and Western Europe.

Both sides said they were far apart and prospects for an early settlement appeared slight.

Anticipating a strike, Inco began closing down its operations over the weekend and was reported operating at one-third capacity Wednesday night.

Homer Seguin, president of Steelworkers Local 6500 at Sudbury, said the work stoppage was not a strike but a "forced lockout because the company has not moved toward a settlement."

A company spokesman said "as far as we know the strike is on" when the morning shift fails to report for work.

The old contract between Inco and the Steelworkers expired at midnight Wednesday.

In bargaining sessions that lasted until early today, Inco improved its previous offer of an 87-cent an hour increase over a three-year period but the union was reported holding out for a $1.50 increase. A company spokesman did not say how much Inco improved its offer.

Nab Spirko In Michigan

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — John Spirko, 23-year-old Toledoan accused of murdering a Kentucky woman at her home in Covington last Thursday, was expected to be returned to Kentucky shortly.

Two Covington detectives arrived here late Wednesday. Spirko was arrested on a felony assault charge in a Flint bar early Wednesday where he allegedly threatened a man with a pistol.

A murder charge in the Covington case was filed Monday. Also charged is Shirley Caughorn, 16, being held in her hometown of Toledo.

Mrs. Myra Ashcraft, 73, was strangled to death in her duplex apartment. There was a pillow case over her head and she was found lying fully clothed on a bed, her arms tied behind her back.

U.S. 'Tank Gap' Lambasted By House Services Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major tank shortage may be developing because of the Army's preoccupation with the new, sophisticated and trouble-ridden Sheridan weapon system, says a House armed services investigating subcommittee.

"We need more tanks. I am not at all happy about our tank combat situation in Europe," said subcommittee Chairman Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., Wednesday, in releasing a report on the Sheridan.

Further, the subcommittee accused the Army of trumping up a need for the Sheridan in 1959, pushing it into production before testing was complete, and covering up difficulties to keep budget funds flowing.

The tank strength in Europe has been sapped because the Army stopped making the mainstay M60 tank in 1967 while at the same time it was selling an unspecified number of the same model to Iran, Austria and Italy, the subcommittee said.

"Not only did the Army fail to maintain an adequate production rate of M60's during the 1960's, but they slowed down the production line and even closed it in 1967 to produce the M60E2, which still cannot be deployed because of deficiencies," the report said.

The E2 modification is an M60 tank fitted with a special turret that allows conventional shells and Shillelagh missiles to be fired from the same barrel.

The special turret is an offshoot of the Sheridan tank, which has been plagued by electronic difficulties, faulty ammunition, and mechanical breakdowns.

"Ten years of effort and some $1.2 billion have now been committed to the Sheridan-Shillelagh effort," the report said.

"Yet there is no convincing evidence that the system represents enough of an improvement in combat capability over existing weapons (used in a proper mix, or appropriately modified) to justify any such expenditures of time and money," it said.

Mr. Orren J. Stout, 63, a lifelong resident of Pickaway County and well known insurance agent, died unexpectedly 5 p.m. Wednesday of an apparent heart attack while at the Chillicothe VA golf course.

He owned and operated the Stout Insurance Agency from his home at 882 Lincoln Dr. and was licensed as a real estate salesman associated with the Curtis Hix agency.

He was a member of Community United Methodist Church and Past Chancellor of Knight of Pythias.

Born July 26, 1905 in Washington Twp. he was the son of Milton and Ollie Leist Stout.

He is survived by his widow, Alice McCormick Stout.

Final Apollo 11 Countdown Set Tonight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Technicians today located a leak in the pressurization system of the Apollo 11 rocket and the space agency sought a means of correcting it so that the countdown could start on time tonight for the moon landing mission.

Officials said they did not think the problem was serious enough to delay the lengthy countdown, set to start at 8 p.m.

As crews completed systems checks on the 36-story-tall rocket-spacecraft combination today, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins planned a day-long workout in the command ship simulator, practicing the engine maneuver that shoots them out of earth orbit and sets them on a quarter-million-mile course to the moon.

They are to orbit the moon July 19, and the next day Armstrong and Aldrin are to fly a fragile lunar module (LM) to man's first landing on the lunar surface.

Early on July 21, first Armstrong, then Aldrin step outside for an exploration period scheduled to last about 2½ hours.

The countdown is 9½ days, but it is spread over 3½ days. This allows for several planned holds to give the crew rest and time to correct any problems that might arise.

Ex-Convict Held To Trial In Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A 28-year-old ex-convict has been held for trial in the slaying of a University of Michigan coed.

After a preliminary hearing Wednesday, District Judge S. J. Elden ruled that Ernest R. Bishop must face a first-degree murder charge in court July 25.

Miss Margaret Anne Phillips, 25, who had befriended the convicted rapist, was fatally shot last Saturday in her apartment. She was the seventh young woman, and the third University of Michigan coed, slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the last 23 months.

A coed who occupied a room next to that of Miss Phillips testified at the hearing she heard a man's voice and a series of shots. A police detective said he found Bishop's fingerprints on a coffee cup in the apartment.

Miss Phillips' roommate, Judith Rubin, 21, of Elyria, Ohio, said she heard two, possibly three, loud bangs moments before someone stepped quickly from Miss Phillips' room and out of the front door of their apartment.

Second Vote Cuts Added Wage Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two of the most controversial bills to be debated this session of the Ohio Legislature — fluoridation and pay raises for state employees—finally are out of committee.

The bills were recommended for passage by legislative committees Wednesday.

The Senate Finance Committee voted out a $29.5 million administration pay raise bill and the House Health and Welfare Committee brought out a bill requiring statewide fluoridation of water supplies.

Before voting out the pay raise bill, the Finance Committee reconsidered and defeated a major amendment that had passed the committee less than 24 hours before.

The amendment would have provided a $500 across the board pay raise for all state employees, boosting the total cost of the bill from $29.5 million to $38 million.

Soviets Bid For Detente With America

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko condemned Red China today and made a bid for developing friendly relations with the United States.

Gromyko, in a major foreign policy speech before the Supreme Soviet—parliament—said the Kremlin favors talks with Washington "to find positions of agreement both on questions of bilateral relations and an unresolved international problems."

He warned Peking that attempts to use armed force against the Soviet Union "will be met with the necessary re-buff."

Despite the belligerent tone, he expressed readiness to hold talks with China "on a wide range of questions" but gave no indication that the Mao Tse-tung leadership had shown interest.

Gromyko's one-hour and 50-minute speech showed an increased Soviet willingness to deal with Washington and a hardening hostility toward China. It apparently reflected a pro-Western change in Kremlin foreign policy following a series of bloody incidents on the Soviet-Chinese border.

The Soviet foreign minister proposed talks on Berlin to prevent trouble from flaring up there again. The Kremlin attitude toward the divided city has been considered a barometer of its interest in getting along with the West.

His bitter criticism of Peking contrasted with marked mildness toward the United States. He passed lightly over Vietnam, which used to rate long diatribes here, and used a conciliatory tone in other references to Washington, stressing the desirability of talks.

Accused Slayer Declared Sane

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Alfred Thomas, 19, of Cleveland, charged with first-degree murder in the deaths of four persons last July 23 in Cleveland, was declared legally insane Wednesday.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge George J. McMahon ordered Thomas sent to Lima State Hospital "until reason is restored" and he can stand trial.

Thomas was charged along with four other men including convicted Fred "Ahmed" Evans, in the slaying of three policemen and a civilian in the city's Glenville area. Evans was sentenced to death in the Ohio electric chair after being convicted on seven counts of first-degree murder.

State Plans No Rebuttal To Sheppard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ired that prison officials were not called to answer criticisms by Dr. Samuel Sheppard before a U.S. Senate committee, Ohio Corrections Chief Maury Koblenz says that as of now there are no plans to ask rebuttal time.

Sheppard testified about alleged mistreatment of prisoners at Ohio Penitentiary. At one point he said he knew of a convict who was allowed to die in "the hole" (correction cells) because of a lack of medical treatment, and of a stabbing victim who was neglected because he was a homosexual.

"All outright lies," Koblenz said. He added:

"We would have liked to look Sheppard in the face, and had him look us in the face when he gave his testimony."

Sheppard had told the committee, investigating conditions in the nation's prisons of various inhuman treatment, drug abuse and morals offenses in Ohio Penitentiary.

Koblenz said the committee should have asked someone from Ohio's penal system to give the other side of the story. "Now," he said, "we're placed on the defensive, and we should not have to be defensive because of someone like Sam Sheppard."

Koblenz said he would like to see a full transcript of the testimony before making a final decision on asking rebuttal before the committee. There was no indication the committee plans to call any other Ohio witnesses.

Egyptians Claim To Have Taken Israeli Position

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt claimed its forces sneaked across the Suez Canal today and held an Israeli position north of Ismailia for three hours without any Israeli interference. Israel denied it.

Maj. Tibor Yonash, an Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv, said: "Up to now there have been no Egyptian attacks. No damage was discovered and no signs of enemy action were found."

The foray was the second such large-sized attack reported by the Egyptians this week. The Egyptians claimed an infantry company destroyed an Israeli artillery camp and missile base opposite Ismailia in a five-hour assault Tuesday.

In Amman, a spokesman said Jordanians and Israeli forces clashed for 15 minutes at Adlasiya in the northern Jordan Valley today.

The Senate Finance Committee voted out a $29.5 million administration pay raise bill and the House Health and Welfare Committee brought out a bill requiring statewide fluoridation of water supplies.

Before voting out the pay raise bill, the Finance Committee reconsidered and defeated a major amendment that had passed the committee less than 24 hours before.

The amendment would have provided a $500 across the board pay raise for all state employees, boosting the total cost of the bill from $29.5 million to $38 million.

Soviets Bid For Detente With America

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko condemned Red China today and made a bid for developing friendly relations with the United States.

Gromyko, in a major foreign policy speech before the Supreme Soviet—parliament—said the Kremlin favors talks with Washington "to find positions of agreement both on questions of bilateral relations and an unresolved international problems."

He warned Peking that attempts to use armed force against the Soviet Union "will be met with the necessary re-buff."

Despite the belligerent tone, he expressed readiness to hold talks with China "on a wide range of questions" but gave no indication that the Mao Tse-tung leadership had shown interest.

Gromyko's one-hour and 50-minute speech showed an increased Soviet willingness to deal with Washington and a hardening hostility toward China.

The Soviet foreign minister proposed talks on Berlin to prevent trouble from flaring up there again. The Kremlin attitude toward the divided city has been considered a barometer of its interest in getting along with the West.

His bitter criticism of Peking contrasted with marked mildness toward the United States. He passed lightly over Vietnam, which used to rate long diatribes here, and used a conciliatory tone in other references to Washington, stressing the desirability of talks.

Accused Slayer Declared Sane

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Alfred Thomas, 19, of Cleveland, charged with first-degree murder in the deaths of four persons last July 23 in Cleveland, was declared legally insane Wednesday.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge George J. McMonagle ordered Thomas sent to Lima State Hospital "until reason is restored" and he can stand trial.

Thomas was charged along with four other men including convicted Fred "Ahmed" Evans, in the slaying of three policemen and a civilian in the city's Glenville area. Evans was sentenced to death in the Ohio electric chair after being convicted on seven counts of first-degree murder.

State Plans No Rebuttal To Sheppard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Irked that prison officials were not called to answer criticisms by Dr. Samuel Sheppard before a U.S. Senate committee, Ohio Corrections Chief Maury Koblenz says that as of now there are no plans to ask rebuttal time.

Sheppard testified about alleged mistreatment of prisoners at Ohio Penitentiary. At one point he said he knew of a convict who was allowed to die in "the hole" (correction cells) because of a lack of medical treatment, and of a stabbing victim who was neglected because he was a homosexual.

"All outright lies," Koblenz said. He added:

"We would have liked to look Sheppard in the face, and had him look us in the face when he gave his testimony."

Sheppard had told the committee, investigating conditions in the nation's prisons of various inhuman treatment, drug abuse and morals offenses in Ohio Penitentiary.

Koblenz said the committee should have asked someone from Ohio's penal system to give the other side of the story. "Now," he said, "we're placed on the defensive, and we should not have to be defensive because of someone like Sam Sheppard."

Koblenz said he would like to see a full transcript of the testimony before making a final decision on asking rebuttal before the committee. There was no indication the committee plans to call any other Ohio witnesses.

Egyptians Claim To Have Taken Israeli Position

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt claimed its forces sneaked across the Suez Canal today and held an Israeli position north of Ismailia for three hours without any Israeli interference. Israel denied it.

Maj. Tibor Yonash, an Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv, said: "Up to now there have been no Egyptian attacks. No damage was discovered and no signs of enemy action were found."

The foray was the second such large-sized attack reported by the Egyptians this week. The Egyptians claimed an infantry company destroyed an Israeli artillery camp and missile base opposite Ismailia in a five hour assault Tuesday.

In Amman, a spokesman said Jordanians and Israeli forces clashed for 15 minutes at Adlasiya in the northern Jordan Valley today.

Marine Units Leave Vietnam For Okinawa

SAIGON (AP) — The first contingent of U.S. Marines to be withdrawn from Vietnam flew to Okinawa today as military spokesmen reported the lowest weekly number of American battle deaths in almost six months.

The Marines left with none of the fanfare accorded departing U.S. infantrymen three days ago. An advance party of 120 Leathernecks of the 9th Regiment departed from Quang Tri, a base 20 miles south of the demilitarized zone, in two four-engine transports.

They included 60 combat troops of the 1st Battalion and the rest payroll and administrative personnel who will prepare for arrival of the main body of the 8,000-man regiment expected in Okinawa within the next few weeks. The rest of the 1st Battalion will leave in a few days, spokesmen said.

U.S. headquarters said 153 Americans were killed in action last week, the lowest death toll since the week ending Jan. 11 when 151 U.S. personnel were killed.

Spokesmen said the relative lull in combat activity accounted for the marked decrease from the preceding week's toll of 241 Americans, and from the weekly average of 243 American dead in the first 26 weeks this year.

Another 1,548 Americans were wounded last week—772 of them hospitalized—compared to 1,674 the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties and the number of enemy dead reflected similar drops—274 government troops killed and 586 wounded last week compared with 446 killed and 804 wounded the previous week, and 2,381 enemy killed compared with 3,485 the previous week.

The new casualty reports raised to 37,019 the number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, 238,147 wounded and 1,325 listed as missing, captured or interned. For the same period the U.S. Command lists 526,085 enemy dead.

The figures were released a few hours after the first contingent of 9th Regiment Marines left Vietnam.

The U.S. Command also announced the end Wednesday of the regiment's last major combat operation, Utah Mesa, centered south of the old combat base at Khe Sanh. Spokesmen said it killed 309 North Vietnamese troops in four weeks while the 9th Marines and the 1st Brigade, U.S. 1st Mechanized Infantry Division, suffered 35 killed and 178 wounded.

The 9th Regiment will remain in Okinawa as a ready reserve unit. It was the first American combat unit committed to the Vietnam war. Since its arrival March 8, 1965 American troop strength in Vietnam has risen to 539,500.

ABM Debate Gets Hotter During Senate Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles Percy says it is "pure hogwash" to argue that the Safeguard missile defense system is needed to strengthen President Nixon's hand for U.S.-Soviet disarmament talks.

And Democratic Sen. Albert Gore says such an argument put forth on behalf of the antiballistic missile program—ABM—in opening debate by fellow Democrats John C. Stennis of Mississippi and Henry M. Jackson of Washington represents "a shift of strategy" by the pro-Safeguard forces.

Gore teamed with Percy to needle Stennis and Jackson as the ABM debate in the Senate heated up Wednesday.

Gore noted President Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had based their argument for ABM on the need to protect the nation's missile deterrent force. The Tennessee Democrat suggested ABM supporters were departing from that course when they contended Safeguard should be approved to bolster the President for impending disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

"Has the senator noted a shift of strategy and logic today?" Gore asked Percy.

"Yes," responded the Illinois Republican. "I've noticed that. And the argument is pure hogwash."

Up jumped Jackson and Stennis, each demanding recognition to rebut the contention.

"The senator is mistaken. There has been no change in my position," said Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee who opened the debate Tuesday by saying the need to stand behind Nixon was essential.

"I have not changed my position," Jackson said. "I believe there is a clear need to protect the deterrent. I also believe it is important the President not have the rug pulled from under him at negotiations."

While the ABM debate picked up steam, Laird's testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at a June 23 closed door hearing was made public—providing an additional illustration of the wide split in Washington over what course should be taken in defense and disarmament.

Laird in his testimony re-emphasized the arguments for Safeguard and rejected a suggestion that the United States unilaterally suspend development of multiheaded missiles.

Herbert Hoover Jr. Dies; Shared Interests Of Father

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Herbert Hoover Jr., who shared the politics and interests but never reached the political heights of his father, the 31st president of the United States, died Wednesday at the age of 65.

Huntington Community Hospital said Hoover had been hospitalized with an illness for a little more than one week. A spokesman declined to give the nature of the illness or cite the cause of death.

The younger Hoover was 25 years old when his father became president. Already married, the son busied himself in research and engineering positions at Harvard Business School, Western Air Express, and Transcontinental and Western Air during his father's four-year term in the White House.

His major specialty was in petroleum geology. From 1954 to 1957, he served as undersecretary of state in the Eisenhower administration after serving as a special consultant on petroleum to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Hoover, born in London, earned a bachelor's degree at Stanford, like his father, then went on to take a master's degree from Harvard.

He listed himself as a Republican but his hobbies and professional interests seemed to outstrip his political nature. He belonged to many professional engineering and petroleum societies and had been president of the International Radio Relay League and the International Amateur Radio Union.

Lodge Blasts North Viets

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the 25th session of the Vietnam peace talks today the United States is ready to negotiate and compromise, but declared: "We shall not capitulate."

Lodge said North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's provisional revolutionary government constantly demand the withdrawal of allied forces while rejecting all proposals for mutual withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops.

"To hold such a position is to demand capitulation by our side," he said. "This is unreasonable. We shall not capitulate. No negotiated settlement of the war in Vietnam is possible until you modify that demand."

"We are prepared to negotiate and compromise. While you refuse to join us in negotiation and compromise, the tragedy of war continues."

The meeting brought little more than the now familiar accusations between the two sides, each blaming the other for the continuing deadlock.

The administration proposal to shift the focus of the act from the South to the nation at large was never even offered during the brief subcommittee session.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said approval of the 1965 act extension was by "overwhelming" voice vote. The full Judiciary Committee is also expected to approve the bill when it considers it next week.

GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, looking for cosponsors of the administration bill among the 15 committee Republicans, was able to find only two junior members willing to join him in introducing the measure Wednesday, Reps. Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut and Charles E. Wiggins of California.

Also joining Ford were party whip, Rep. Leslie C. Andrews of Illinois, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the chairman of the Republican Policy Committee and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

Notably missing from the list of sponsors, however, besides the senior Judiciary Committee Republicans were Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, the GOP's leading civil rights supporter in the House, and Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, who holds the No. 2 GOP leadership spot behind Ford as chairman of the Republican Conference. Both are strongly supporting the existing law.

The lineup in the Judiciary Committee and on the list of sponsors signal the deep split in Republican ranks touched off by Nixon's proposal, which opponents have called a political payoff to the southerners who supported his presidential bid.

Second Vote

(Continued from Page 1) bined to pass the amendment Tuesday night. That action so angered committee Chairman Robert R. Shaw, R-16 Columbus, that he abruptly adjourned the meeting and stormed out of the room.

Shaw and the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes contended that the state can not afford to spend $38 million over the next two years for state employee pay raises.

Pressure was put on the two Republicans—Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton and Robin T. Turner, R-14 Marion—to change their votes.

The final vote on the bill was 9-0 with Turner abstaining.

Under the bill as it stands now all employees making $4 an hour or less would get a raise. This affects 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employees.

Al Bilik, head of the Public Employees Union, said his threat of a strike stands if the bill hasn't passed the Senate within 10 days.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua, said he didn't know when the bill would come up for a floor vote.

The Health and Welfare Committee backed two amendments on the fluoridation bill before approving it 10-4.

The amendments met with the approval of the Ohio Citizens for Fluoridation, prime backers of the bill that earlier passed the Senate.

One amendment provides that the issue could be put on the ballot for a referendum vote in local areas 90 days after the bill becomes law.

The second amendment would allow local governments to bill the Ohio Department of Health for the expense of installing fluoridation equipment.

Under the bill, water systems supplying 20,000 or more persons are required to fluoridate by Jan. 1, 1971. Those supplying 5,000 to 20,000 persons must do so before Jan. 1, 1972.

COURT SAYS NO—In a 3-2 decision, the appellate division of the state Supreme Court held in New York that comedian Jackie Gleason could not seek a divorce from his wife, Genevieve, from whom he has been separated 15 years, under a new law. The court held that the law permitting such suits where couples have been legally separated for at least two years is not applicable where separation agreements had been in effect before the law was enacted.

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP) — Helen Howe has rejected the offer of Boy Scouts to get rid of that small car that rolled down a hill driverless last Saturday and plunged into the Howes' swimming pool.

"They wanted to know if they could have it by getting the car out as a summer project," Mrs. Howe said. "They said they could build rafts and pullies and that it would be quite inexpensive since all we'd pay would be the cost of materials."

"But I don't think I could take a summer of Boy Scouts working in my backyard," said the mother of three.

After consulting with the car owner's insurance company, the Howes have decided the only way to get the car out is by helicopter.

Solons Seek To Cut Medical Cost

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee is groping for ways to halt spiraling costs of Medicare and Medicaid programs without extensive government intervention in fees charged by physicians and hospitals.

If a solution is not found, some senators say, pressure may develop before long for Congress to assume the task of fixing the charges.

The committee, in opening a lengthy investigation of costs and abuses in the two big health programs, said expenses already exceeded original estimates by $4.8 billion a year.

Members were unanimous in the view this trend could not be permitted to continue, at least not at the same rate.

It was evident from testimony that soaring costs were posing a far bigger problem for the programs than abuses.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, No. 2 Republican on the committee, said he was disturbed at an apparent feeling in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that it could cover losses and higher costs by getting Congress to raise taxes which finance the programs.

"Looking down the road," said Bennett, "I fear that if the department cannot provide a method of controlling costs, we in Congress will try to provide a method which means we will be writing federal legislation regulating doctors' fees and prices for prescriptions and hospital day care."

The committee staff now is putting together a bulky report on its findings.

Experts are expected to make proposals to reduce complexity in the programs and to eliminate what they say amounts to double payments in some cases to supervisory and teaching physicians in hospitals.

Robert M. Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration which administers Medicare, said his agency had started tightening up in recent months. As a result carriers now are reducing physicians' charges at an average rate of 5.2 per cent, he said.

In addition, Ball said a near freeze on further fee increases has been imposed.

John G. Veneman, welfare undersecretary, said new controls were imposed last month on Medicaid payments.

Medicare covers the 20 million Americans 65 and over. Medicaid is the program of health care for persons on welfare and those with incomes too high for welfare but too low to cover their medical expenses.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee has recommended cutting the Bureau of Indian Affairs budget by $6.5 million, knocking out all money to help public schools start kindergartens for Indian children.

The public school kindergarten program of $2.3 million would have provided 107 classrooms for 3,200 students.

Funds to build 59 kindergarten rooms at BIA schools at a cost of $4 million were left intact.

In a report made public today, the committee questioned whether public schools needed the money since many already provide kindergarten classes. The committee said it had asked the Interior Department and BIA for more information but got nothing that convinced it to change its position.

Another $6.1 million was trimmed from relocation services for Indians. The administration proposed increasing the relocation budget by $9.5 million, a hike of 100 per cent above the past budget, but the committee said it doubted such a speedup could be handled efficiently.

Chrysler tumbled 4 to 39½ and other motors also were lower. Chrysler reportedly has begun on a cutback on a $300-million expansion program. Its sales have been lagging behind record-setting 1968. Analysts said Chrysler's drop was weighing on the DJI average.

U.S. Admirals Mum About Soviet Vessels Off Coast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's admirals, who have thundered for years about the growing Soviet naval challenge, are unusually restrained about a Russian squadron making a "show the flag" voyage to Cuba.

Sources indicated one reason stems from a State Department desire to treat the Soviet naval move in low key, to avoid a Moscow blast against U.S. fleet operations in international waters adjoining Russian territory.

Two U.S. destroyers last month cruised the Black Sea for four days to demonstrate this country's right to sail there.

American fleet units also concentrated in the Sea of Japan, a few hundred miles from Vladivostok, during crises growing out of the North Korean seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo and the downing of a Navy reconnaissance plane.

Asked for his assessment of the voyage of seven Russian naval vessels toward Cuba, Adm. Thomas Moorer, chief of Naval Operations, limited himself to this statement: "Naturally, the United States Navy is interested in the movement of Soviet Naval ships to Cuba, and Atlantic fleet units will conduct routine surveillance of these ships during their transit."

Seek Removal Of Mayor

RUSSELL POINT, Ohio (AP) — Businessmen who say they suffered serious financial loss because of unduly harsh police action during July 4 disturbances here are seeking the impeachment of Mayor Lloyd Pickering.

Petitions being circulated by the businessmen accuse the mayor of "deliberate police action without cause" which forced them to close their shops early last Friday and Saturday nights.

During the disorders, lawmen used tear gas to disperse crowds and at least three persons were hit by shotgun blasts. One of the wounded claims to have been shot by Pickering.

Most of the 60 persons forfeited bonds averaging $50.

In Ohio, petitioners may seek the removal of a mayor in common pleas court or through the governor's office.

ABM Debate Gets Hotter During Senate Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles Percy says it is "pure hogwash" to argue that the Safeguard missile defense system is needed to strengthen President Nixon's hand for U.S.-Soviet disarmament talks.

And Democratic Sen. Albert Gore says such an argument put forth on behalf of the antiballistic missile program—ABM—in opening debate by fellow Democrats John C. Stennis of Mississippi and Henry M. Jackson of Washington represents "a shift of strategy" by the pro-Safeguard forces.

Gore teamed with Percy to needle Stennis and Jackson as the ABM debate in the Senate heated up Wednesday.

Gore noted President Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had based their argument for ABM on the need to protect the nation's missile deterrent force. The Tennessee Democrat suggested ABM supporters were departing from that course when they contended Safeguard should be approved to bolster the President for impending disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

While the ABM debate picked up steam, Laird's testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at a June 23 closed door hearing was made public—providing an additional illustration of the wide split in Washington over what course should be taken in defense and disarmament.

Laird in his testimony re-emphasized the arguments for Safeguard and rejected a suggestion that the United States unilaterally suspend development of multiheaded missiles.

Under vigorous questioning by Committee Chairman W. J. Fulbright, D-Ark., Laird narrowed his earlier contention that the Russians were aiming for a devastating first-strike nuclear capability.

He said he was talking about a Soviet capability to knock out retaliatory U.S. Minuteman missiles in their permanent silos. He said he had never contended this would be an overall knockout blow.

Herbert Hoover Jr. Dies; Shared Interests Of Father

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Herbert Hoover Jr., who shared the politics and interests but never reached the political heights of his father, the 31st president of the United States, died Wednesday at the age of 65.

Second Vote

bined to pass the amendment Tuesday night. That action so angered committee Chairman Robert R. Shaw, R-16 Columbus, that he abruptly adjourned the meeting and stormed out of the room.

Shaw and the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes contended that the state can not afford to spend $38 million over the next two years for state employee pay raises.

Pressure was put on the two Republicans—Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton and Robin T. Turner, R-14 Marion—to change their votes.

The final vote on the bill was 9-0 with Turner abstaining.

Under the bill as it stands now all employees making $4 an hour or less would get a raise. This affects 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employees.

Al Bilk, head of the Public Employees Union, said his threat of a strike stands if the bill hasn't passed the Senate within 10 days.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua, said he didn't know when the bill would come up for a floor vote.

The Health and Welfare Committee tacked two amendments on the fluoridation bill before approving it 10-4.

The amendments met with the approval of the Ohio Citizens for Fluoridation, prime backers of the bill that earlier passed the Senate.

One amendment provides that the issue could be put on the ballot for a referendum vote in local areas 90 days after the bill becomes law.

The second amendment would allow local governments to bill the Ohio Department of Health for the expense of installing fluoridation equipment.

Under the bill, water systems supplying 20,000 or more persons are required to fluoridate by Jan. 1, 1971. Those supplying 5,000 to 20,000 persons must do so before Jan. 1, 1972.

COURT SAYS NO—In a 3-2 decision, the appellate division of the state Supreme Court held in New York that comedian Jackie Gleason could not seek a divorce from his wife, Genevieve, from whom he has been separated 15 years, under a new law. The court held that the law permitting such suits where couples have been legally separated for at least two years is not applicable where separation agreements had been in effect before the law was enacted.

Solons Seek To Cut Medical Cost

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee is groping for ways to halt spiraling costs of Medicare and Medicaid programs without extensive government intervention in fees charged made by physicians and hospitals.

If a solution is not found, some senators say, pressure may develop before long for Congress to assume the task of fixing the charges.

The committee, in opening a lengthy investigation of costs and abuses in the two big health programs, said expenses already exceeded original estimates by $4.8 billion a year.

Members were unanimous in the view this trend could not be permitted to continue, at least not at the same rate.

It was evident from testimony that soaring costs were posing a far bigger problem for the programs than abuses.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, No. 2 Republican on the committee, said he was disturbed at an apparent feeling in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that it could cover losses and higher costs by getting Congress to raise taxes which finance the programs.

"Looking under the road," said Bennett, "I fear that if the department cannot provide a method of controlling costs, we in Congress will try to provide a method which means we will be writing federal legislation regulating doctors' fees and prices for prescriptions and hospital day care."

The committee staff now is putting together a bulky report on its findings.

Experts are expected to make proposals to reduce complexity in the programs and to eliminate what they say amounts to double payments in some cases to supervisory and teaching physicians in hospitals.

Robert M. Ball, commissioner of the Social Security Administration which administers Medicare, said his agency had started tightening up in recent months. As a result carriers now are reducing physicians' charges at an average rate of 5.2 per cent, he said.

In addition, Ball said a near freeze on further fee increases has been imposed.

John G. Veneman, welfare undersecretary, said new controls were imposed last month on Medicaid payments.

Medicaid covers the 20 million Americans 65 and over. Medicaid is the program of health care for persons on welfare and those with incomes too high for welfare but too low to cover their medical expenses.

U.S. Admirals Mum About Soviet Vessels Off Coast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's admirals, who have thundered for years about the growing Soviet naval challenge, are unusually restrained about a Russian squadron making a "show the flag" voyage to Cuba.

Sources indicated one reason stems from a State Department desire to treat the Soviet naval move in low key, to avoid a Moscow blast against U.S. fleet operations in international waters adjoining Russian territory.

Two U.S. destroyers last month cruised the Black Sea for a four-day tour to demonstrate this country's right to sail there.

American fleet units also concentrated in the Sea of Japan, a few hundred miles from Vladivostok, during crises growing out of the North Korean seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo and the downing of a Navy reconnaissance plane.

Asked for his assessment of the voyage of seven Russian naval vessels toward Cuba, Adm. Thomas Moorer, chief of Naval Operations, limited himself to this statement: "Naturally, the United States Navy is interested in the movement of Soviet Naval ships to Cuba, and Atlantic fleet units will conduct routine surveillance of these ships during their transit."

Stock List Dips Sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a sharp tumble into lower territory early this afternoon, with the Dow Jones industrial average off more than 10 points and losses ahead of gains by a bit less than 500 issues.

Trading was fairly active. The DJI, which lost a total of 24.50 points in this week's previous three sessions, was off 10.21 at 851.41.

Analysts said penetration of the 860 level by the DJI brought in "some selling by the chartists who regarded that level as a support area."

"But the big thing behind this and previous declines," an analyst said, "is the credit crunch and the high interest rates resulting from it. It seems that during an inflation-fighting period, the stock market takes it on the chin."

Chrysler tumbled 4 to 39 1/2 and other motors also were lower. Chrysler reportedly has begun on a cutback on a $800-million expansion program. Its sales have been lagging behind record-setting 1968. Analysts said Chrysler's drop was weighing on the DJI average.

Continental Telephone, in which a 290,000-share block was traded, led the New York Stock Exchange active list as 17 of the 20 most-active stocks declined, and 3 advanced. Continental Telephone was up 1/2 at 22 1/2.

Seek Removal Of Mayor

RUSSELL POINT, Ohio (AP)—Businessmen who say they suffered serious financial loss because of unduly harsh police action during July 4 disturbances here are seeking the impeachment of Mayor Lloyd Pickering.

Petitions being circulated by the businessmen accuse the mayor of "deliberate police action without cause" which forced them to close their shops early last Friday and Saturday nights.

During the disorders, lawmen used tear gas to disperse crowds and at least three persons were hit by shotgun blasts. One of the wounded claims to have been shot by Pickering.

Most of the 60 persons forfeited bonds averaging $50. In Ohio, petitioners may see the removal of a mayor in common pleas court or through the governor's office.

Fire Extinguisher Salesman To Rescue

REDDITCH, England (AP) — Housewife Maureen Leopold, 21, thought it was a stunt when Anthony Reynolds, 26, a fire extinguisher salesman, grabbed one of his samples, knocked on the door and told her the roof was on fire. Reynolds finally convinced her to let him in to put out the blaze he had spotted from his car.

"I hadn't seen any flames," Mrs. Leopold said.

Hurricanes Coming Up

It is the season to be windy, and the most violent storms nature can devise already have started wending their way across the United States. Tornadoes have wrecked several communities in the Midwest, and blazed their destructive paths through several states.

Any day now, weather watchers expect to see the first of the most destructive of all storms — the hurricane — come blowing up out of the south. In contrast to last year, when June spawned several hurricanes, the season this year is off to a slow start.

The word from Miami hurricane scientists is that all is calm along the tropic sea front. They may be privately wishing that at least one good storm would come along, because this is the year the Miami Hurricane Center intends to unleash a fleet of planes into the center of the storm where huge quantities of silver iodide crystals are to be dumped in an attempt to tame the storm.

No one else will be disappointed, however, if the hurricane watchers never get to use Anna, Blanche, Carol, Debbie or the other feminine names they have chosen for this year's crop of tropical storms.

Plan Backfires

Because of the cost experience of the C5A transport, the canceled Cheyenne helicopter project and a number of other major weapons systems which were initiated under a new Pentagon buying plan by former Secretary of Defense McNamara, Pentagon purchasing officials are reported considering scrapping the plan.

Dubbed the "total package procurement" plan, the McNamara device was designed to overcome heavy cost overruns experienced on major projects in the past. The former procurement practice involved negotiating a developmental contract by competitive bidding, which usually include only the production of several prototypes.

At that point a new contract for production was negotiated, usually with the same company because by that time the tooling and expertise had become built in.

Under "total package procurement,"

a successful bidder received the total contract, including spare parts and maintenance and a given number of production models. It was his baby from start to finish.

Recognizing, however, that with major weapons projects climbing into the billions of dollars a large company could face financial ruin if it badly miscalculated on the contract, the Pentagon devised — in the case of the C5A — a repricing formula which would permit a lower or higher price for second production runs if the first production deviated significantly from original estimates.

In view of recent cost overruns, the Defense Department has dropped the repricing formula gimmick and there is increasing pressure to drop the "total package procurement" idea as well. No formula is in sight which will satisfy all partners in military procurement.

Perhaps there cannot be any as long as cost estimates remain so far from reality.

ONE NIGHT two safecrackers invaded a Maryland bank. One sat down, removed his socks and shoes, and began turning the dial of the vault door with his toes. "Boy!" he exclaimed, "will this drive those fingerprint experts nuts!"

A bug on statistics and mathematical problems was bent over a mess of figures one afternoon with a particularly blissful expression on his face. "What's so wonderful?" asked a fellow-worker. "Unless these figures deceive me," chirped the exuberant one, "I'm home free. My wife's on some crazy new diet and claims she's losing four pounds a week. She was 160 pounds when she started, and if my calculations are correct, I'll be rid of her entirely in 39 weeks!"

The Business World

By JACK LEFFLER (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Life insurance policyholders—there are 130 million in this country—are stepping up borrowing on their policies because at an interest rate of 5 per cent it is the cheapest money available.

In this period of tight money—with rising interest rates and a limited supply of lendable money—mortgage interest charges range to 8½ per cent and personal loans at banks draw almost 12 per cent.

The volume of policy loans has increased steadily in recent years because the policyholder can save money in financing the purchase of a house, a car or smaller expenses.

"Most people think twice or three times before borrowing on a life insurance policy because it defeats the purpose of life insurance," an industry spokesman said.

"But in this time of high interest rates elsewhere more people are doing so, mainly for smaller expenses such as college tuition and medical bills."

The 5 per cent interest rate on policy loans is set by law in most states.

In addition to the low interest charge, policyholders are turning to their insurance companies for loans because the supply of lending money available to banks and other savings institutions has become limited due to government monetary restrictions imposed in an effort to stem inflation.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports that total policy loans made in April—the latest month for which figures are available—amounted to $147 billion against $819 million in April 1968.

A borrower on a policy can choose to neither repay the amount of the loan nor the interest. But the interest would continue to accumulate and at the same time of his death the amount of interest and loan would be subtracted from the value of his policy.

There are 1,700 life insurance companies in the United States and their sales of policies have increased steadily as Americans became more affluent and more protection conscious.

Life insurance in force totaled $1.18 trillion at the end of 1968, having risen from $900.5 billion in 1965, $984.6 billion in 1966 and $1.08 trillion in 1967.

Drilling Ban Called For

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A resolution calling for a moratorium on drilling for gas and oil in Lake Erie was to be introduced in the Ohio House today.

The resolution will be cosponsored by House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-4 Perrysburg and George Voinovich, R-53 Cleveland.

Voinovich said the resolution will urge that no Lake Erie drilling permits be issued for gas and oil in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania and New York until legislators from these states are able to recommend a uniform policy on drilling.

The resolution is a result of Kurfess' conference with legislative officials in the four other states. As a result of the conference two state legislatures have already adopted similar resolutions.

A bill pending in the Ohio House would prohibit the Department of Natural Resources from issuing permits for gas and oil drilling in the lake.

Ferryboats May 'Save' Bridges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ferry boats, once the only mass transportation across San Francisco Bay, may be headed back to bail out the bridges that killed them off.

Golden Gate Bridge directors expressed delight at a special $45,000 study that showed fast ferry commuter service between Marin County and San Francisco was practical and desirable.

This year the bridge will carry nearly 31 million cars and so heavy is the bridge load that morning and evening rush traffic often backs for miles. A ferry service could, the study showed, "entice" 8,500 daily commuters from the bridge by 1971.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I slipped and fell while I was on a coffee break from my job. It is true that I broke my ankle outside of the factory but shouldn't this be a compensation case?

Mr. N. O. E., Illinois Dear Mr. E.: The compensation laws are a great social advance which offer important protection to workers. The expense of any illness is so great and the cost of hospital care so exorbitant that this added protection is vital to families everywhere.

When I say that the cost of medical and hospital care is exorbitant, I do not mean to imply that hospitals are making a profit on our illnesses. The fact that your own wages have increased, as they must have, means that the wages of hospital personnel have similarly gone up. We have long since passed the day when nurses and other hospital personnel were paid meager salaries and were asked "to be dedicated workers."

Dedication comes only after people are paid a dignified wage. As to your particular problem, a compensation case is one that includes an illness or an injury directly related to the character of the job or the place of employment. Whether or not your injury is compensable depends entirely on the laws of your state and the legal contact between you, your employer, and the government agency.

Compensation laws vary but almost always hospital and medical expenses, appliances and total convalescent care are paid for. Your particular problem obviously falls into a category which can only be completely investigated from the legal point of view.

My experience has been that the compensation laws and the cooperation of the employers tend to favor workers.

Sometimes a torn cartilage can heal by itself with long periods of rest and by the use of a splint or cast. This is frequently tried but the results usually are disappointing, especially if the tear was a severe one.

Surgery, when selected, is neither difficult nor dangerous. The results are very satisfactory and cure can follow in almost all instances. Since there are two cartilages in the knee joint, one can be removed without interfering too much with movement of the knee.

The victim is not left with permanent damage or limited activity. The knee should be respected after surgery and must not deliberately be exposed to repeated injuries.

Recovery from a torn cartilage operation, with adequate rest, almost always permits resumption of physical exercise and athletics.

Test Youth In Slaying

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Roger Craft, 17, Marion, will undergo observation at the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus before it is decided whether he should be tried as an adult for murder.

Fairfield County Juvenile Court Judge Robert Hastings Tuesday sent Craft to the center for a period of 30-60 days. Craft and another youth, Steven Patrick, 15, also of Marion, are accused of fatally shooting a security guard May 24 after their escape from the Fairfield School for Boys.

The guard, Charles Marion, 23, was one of several officers who were trying to recapture the youths.

Patrick is scheduled to make his initial appearance before Hastings July 23.

Mrs. B. R., Arizona
Dear Mrs. R.: A torn cartilage is probably one of the most common of injuries to athletes and people doing heavy work. When the knee is suddenly twisted the cartilage can become ripped away from its attachment to the tibia, which is the larger of the two bones of the lower leg. This results in some limitation of motion of the knee, with tenderness, swelling and pain over it.

Men Behind The Astronauts Recognized

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — While the world watches the three Apollo 11 astronauts, credit for making a lunar landing possible belongs also to talented engineers, scientists and administrators who remain behind on earth.

Here are some of the key men who masterminded Project Apollo:

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, took over the agency from former administrator James E. Webb last October. Paine helped restore NASA's image and momentum after the Apollo 1 fire. A non-political, noncontroversial person, he worked for 19 years with General Electric Co. before joining NASA last year.

Dr. George E. Mueller, associate administrator of NASA's Office of Manned Space Flight in Washington, D. C., has overseen America's man-in-space programs since the beginning of the two-man Gemini series. Holder of a master's degree in electrical engineering and a doctorate in physics, Mueller worked for Space Technology Laboratories, Inc., before joining NASA, having overall responsibility for the design, development and testing of systems basic to the Atlas, Titan, Minuteman and Thor ballistic missile programs.

Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director, steered the successful development of Minuteman ICBMs before joining NASA's lunar landing project in 1964.

Always an optimist, Phillips throughout the Apollo program has been the one NASA official most likely to discuss publicly and ambitious plans being considered by the space agency for upcoming flights. Known to newsmen as a man who tells the truth even when it hurts, Phillips earned the respect of the press and his associates when he stood alone fielding a barrage of questions the day after the Apollo 1 fire.

George H. Hage, Apollo 11 mission director, managed the highly successful camera-carrying lunar orbiter unmanned spacecraft program for Boeing Co., prime contractor. After joining NASA, he was named mission director for Apollo flights beginning with Apollo 7, the nation's first three-man space journey. A highly qualified engineer in airplane, missile and space programs, Hage prefers to motivate people by working hard himself, rather than being a slave driver.

Dr. Robert R. Gilbruth, director of NASA's Manned

Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., since its creation in 1961, is an internationally known authority on aeronautics and holder of a log list of professional awards and honors.

George M. Low, manager of the Apollo spacecraft program

NOTICE FOR SCHOOL BUS BIDS
Sealed bids will be received by Mary Ellen Rader, Clerk of the Board of Education of Circleville City School District at the office of the Board of Education, 520 South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio, until 12 o'clock noon (Eastern Daylight Savings Time) on July 28, 1969 for one bus chassis and one bus body for 66 passengers. Quotations will be made on the chassis and body to comply with specifications to be provided. These units are to be bid separately — truck dealers bidding the chassis and equipment and the body dealers bidding the body and equipment.

The bids will be received in an envelope marked "School Bus Chassis Bid" or "School Bus Body Bid" — not to be opened until July 29, 1969. All bids must be submitted in duplicate on forms provided. Specifications and bid forms will be available at the office of the Superintendent of Schools, 520 South Court Street. The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids or parts thereof. Price and quality will both be considered in determining the successful bidder. The delivery date shall be a consideration in awarding the contracts. The successful bidder will be notified after the bid is accepted. Each bus (chassis or bodies) must meet or exceed the state minimum proposed standards of Ohio for 1969 and all minimum standards required by the National Safety Act and in effect at the time of this bid. R. L. Brehmer Jr., President Mary Ellen Rader, Clerk July 3 10 17 24 at Houston since 1967, assumed that post after the Apollo 1 fire and oversaw the massive redesign that led to a more fireproof and reliable spacecraft. Chairman of the committee which performed the original studies that led to a manned lunar landing program, Low likes to work away from the spotlight.

Christopher C. Kraft Jr., director of Apollo flight operations, has directed manned missions between liftoff and landing since the beginning of Project Mercury. Popular and highly respected by his associates, he was a key man among those who masterminded the Apollo program's vast computer capabilities.

Dr. Wernher von Braun, director of NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., headed development of Saturn man-to-the-moon rockets. He began rocketry research in 1934 in his native Germany and was technical director of the Peenemuende rocket center which developed V-2 guided missiles for use against the Allies in World War II. After the war, he and many of his team of rocketry experts came to the United States, where he directed development of the Army's Redstone missile that started manned space flight by Americans.

Dr. Kurt H. Debus, director of NASA's Kennedy Space Center, has overall responsibility for all NASA launchings. One of von Braun's team who came to the U. S. from Germany, saber-scarred Debus supervised development and construction of launch facilities at Cape Kennedy for the Redstone, Jupiter, Juno and Pershing missiles, as well as the huge Saturn-Apollo launch complex. He directed launch operations for the first U.S. satellite, Explorer 1, and launched the first U.S. ballistic missile, the Redstone.

Rocco A. Petrone, director of launch operations at the Kennedy Space Center, is the man directly responsible for seeing that Saturn-Apollo rockets and spacecraft get off the ground. Known by his associates as a stern disciplinarian who will not tolerate anyone breaking rules or not following established procedures, Petrone was in the blockhouse at Cape Canaveral when the first Redstone launching took place in 1953. He was a star football player for Army at West Point.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, director of medical research and operations at the Manned Spacecraft Center, joined NASA in 1962 and was prime medical monitor at tracking stations during Mercury flights before being named chief astronaut physician for Gemini and Apollo. While Russian scientists and others were reporting that weightlessness could have serious effects on a person's balance or orientation, Berry took an opposite position — and experience has proved him right.

Donald K. Slayton, director of flight crew operations, was one of the original seven Mercury astronauts. He would have made the second U.S. orbital flight if doctors had not grounded him because of a slight heart murmur. A veteran pilot who flew 63 bomber

Melissa Ann Search Wed To Mark Conaway

Miss Melissa Ann Search and Mark Anthony Conaway were united in marriage 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 3, at the Kingston United Methodist Church with the Rev. Harry C. Hill officiating.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Dwight Williams, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Search of Route 1, Kingston, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Conaway, Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected for her wedding an empire styled gown of white silk organza and lace with a cathedral train. Her tulle veil was held by a headpiece of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Christy Edler, wore a street length gown of pink crepe with an overskirt of white lace edged in pink satin. Miss Robin Conaway, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Nancy Search, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

MILLION STITCHES — Suzanne Neal, 21, poses in her 12-foot wedding gown in England, into which went more than a million crocheted stitches by Albert Banister, 81, and wife Violet, 71, in Devonshire. It took them nearly two years. Her wedding is scheduled for September, but may have to be postponed because two bridesmaids' gowns being crocheted by the Banisters may not be finished by then.

Miss Conaway's street length blue crepe gown had an overskirt of white lace edged in blue satin, while the junior attendant's gown was designed with a crepe bodice and chiffon tiered skirt edged in pink satin. Each attendant carried a single pink rose.

Performing the duties of best man was James Dresbach. Seating the guests were Ronald French and William Gearhart, a cousin of the bride.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception in the community room of the church following the ceremony. Assisting hostesses were Miss Ann Gearhart, cousin of the bride, Miss Peggy Phillips and Miss Nichollette Kelley.

The new Mrs. Conaway graduated from Zane Trace High School in 1969. Her husband, a 1968 graduate of Zane Trace, is employed by the Mead Corporation. Upon their return from a wedding trip in the eastern states they will live on Route 1, Kingston.

Family Dinner Held Recently

Mrs. Ruth DeVault was hostess for a family dinner recently at her home in Washington C. H. A carry-in dinner was held with a birthday cake, in honor of Mr. DeVault, served with the dessert.

Attending the event were Mr. and Mrs. John Parret Sr., Route 2, Williamsport; Leslie Beathard and Joyce Ann, Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. David Parret and Chuckie, Savanah, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. John Parrett Jr., Tim, Todd and Terry; Mr. and Mrs. James Parrett, Route 2, Circleville; Mrs. Mary Voorhees, Robbie and Shelly, Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parrett and Billy, Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. Floyd Swackhammer, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Swackhammer and Angie, and Mrs. Albert Beathard, Washington C. H.

Spec. 5 and Mrs. David Parrett left the following day for Thunderbolt, Ga., where Mr. Parrett is stationed. PFC James Parrett will leave July 12 for Thailand. Both brothers are in the U. S. Army.

Mrs. John Hall recently returned from a year's stay in Germany and her husband will return Aug. 1.

Vocal entertainment was provided by Larry Zugg and the afternoon spent in conversation and games.

Arledge-Huffman Reunion Planned

The Arledge-Huffman Family Reunion will be held with a basket dinner beginning 1 p.m. Sunday at Ted Lewis Park in shelter house 1.

Kathy Stout Feted With Bridal Shower

A bridal shower in honor of Miss Kathy Stout, fiancée of Thomas Ohlin, was held recently at Berndt's Restaurant in Youngstown.

Tables were covered with lime green linen. Sprinkling cans filled with philodendron and sweet Williams were used as centerpieces.

Crazy bridge was the diversion of the afternoon with prizes won by Mrs. Paul Stebelton, Mrs. Allen Hutko, Mrs. James Fry and Mrs. George Ohlin of the Youngstown area; Miss Kathy Stout and Mrs. Stanley Stout, Ashville, mother of the bride-to-be.

The wedding will be an event of Aug. 2 in Columbus.

Mrs. Stevens Honored With Baby Shower

A baby shower was held recently honoring Mrs. Gene Stevens at the home of Mrs. Richard Marshall, Dunkle Road. Assisting hostess was Mrs. Jerry Cassill, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are the parents of an infant son, Douglas.

The decorated gift table centered the room. Games were played with prizes won by Mrs. Harold Horn, Mrs. Charles Hemming and Mrs. Dale Allen.

Other guests included Mrs. Delbert McKenzie, Mrs. Woodrow Carter, Mrs. Lena Congrove, Mrs. Charles Collins, Miss Leann Gross, Miss Christy Cassill, Mrs. Glen Bartley, Mrs. Floyd Mustard, Mrs. MacDonald Schumm and Mrs. Alfred Clifton.

Ham Flips Sandwiches You'll Really Flip Over

By ALICE DENHOFF

Ever since the Earl of Sandwich was inspired to place a slice of meat between two pieces of bread, the sandwich has become part of the food program almost everywhere. Whether it be a dainty tea sandwich, a multi-tiered "Dagwood" or one made with delicious spreads, the sandwich is indispensable at home or away from home. And what would a lunchbox be without its quota of sandwiches?

Tasty Reminder
Mention of spreads reminds me that there are so many excellent varieties including popular deviled ham, chicken spread and liverpate. Good as these are in their original form, they outdo themselves as ingredients in some quite interesting sandwiches. As a starter, try:

HAM FLIPS
4 slices soft white bread
6 slices American cheese, room temperature
1 1/4-oz. can deviled ham

4 tomato slices
Place a cheese slice on each bread slice, spread evenly with deviled ham. Chop remaining cheese slices, sprinkle on deviled ham. Fold in half diagonally, bring two opposite bread corners together above fold. Insert a tomato slice on edge between upright corners, secure with wooden picks. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 min. until browned and bubbly.

DEVILED HAM TACO CUPS
12 thin slices fresh white bread, trimmed
Melted butter
Commeal

1 1/4-oz. can deviled ham
1/4 c. chopped green pepper
1/4 c. chopped celery
1 c. tomato sauce
1/2 tsp. chili powder
Shredded lettuce
Brush trimmed bread slices lightly on both sides with butter; coat with commeal. Place in large muffin cups, bake at 300 degrees for about 20 min., or until crisp. These are your taco cups.

Combine next 5 ingredients. Fill the tacos with mixture and bake at 375 degrees for about 10 min. or until mixture is well heated through. Garnish with shredded lettuce.

Makes 12 tasty tacos.
LIVERWURST AND BACON ROLL-UPS
6 slices soft white bread, trimmed

1 4 3/4 oz. can liverwurst spread
3 slices bacon, halved
Remove crusts and lightly flatten bread with rolling pin. Cover each slice not quite to edges with liverwurst spread, roll up from wider edge. Wrap each with half a bacon slice; run a toothpick through each end of roll to secure bacon ends. Place on rack on baking sheet and bake in 400 degrees oven for 25 min., turning once after 15 min. Drain on absorbent paper. Remove 'picks. Serve toasty hot for good eating.

Makes 6 sandwiches.
BRAISED CHICKEN SANDWICH
8 slices white bread

1 1/4 oz. can chicken spread
1 medium apple, pared and sliced
2 slices, muenster cheese, halved
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tbsp. milk

Spread 4 slices bread with chicken spread, then add a layer of apple slices and a cheese slice. Top with remaining bread slice.

Combine eggs and milk; dip sandwiches in mixture to coat both sides and place on lightly greased baking sheet. Broil at least 6" from heat, 3-5 min. on each side. Serve hot.
Makes 4 sandwiches.

Italian President Seeks Government

ROME (AP)—President Giuseppe Saragat began talks with government leaders and politicians of every stripe today to find a new premier and Cabinet for Italy's 30th postwar government.

The 29th, a six-month-old center-left coalition of Christian Democrats, Socialists and Republicans, collapsed Saturday when Premier Mariano Rumor and his Cabinet resigned because of a split in the Socialist camp. Rumor is staying on as caretaker premier.

Church Women Plan To Hold Jitney Supper

Women's Fellowship of the Church of the Brethren met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Tom Donahue, with nine members and guests present.

Mrs. Harold Dowden used for devotions a Bible story, "How God Helped Find A Way" and a reading about the freedom that Christians have through Christ. Prayer was presented by Mrs. Clarence Boyer.

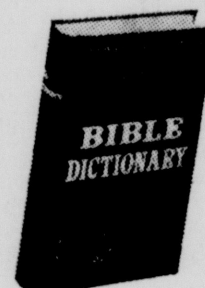

Discussion was held concerning having a work day once a month at the church to make comforters or other items for needy people.

The Women of the Church will serve a supper for the meeting of the District Board at the church on Aug. 11. A Jitney Supper will be held Aug. 12 at Ted Lewis Park beginning 6 p.m.

Mrs. Donahue served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

BACK TO SCHOOL—A teacher for 52 years, Mrs. Amy Ditmer, 71, has returned to the college classroom at Bowling Green (Ohio) University, where she is living in a dormitory. She is taking special education courses to become a teacher of mentally retarded youngsters.

Melissa Ann Search
Wed To Mark Conaway

Miss Melissa Ann Search and Mark Anthony Conaway were united in marriage 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 3, at the Kingston United Methodist Church with the Rev. Harry C. Hill officiating.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Dwight Williams, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Search of Route 1, Kingston, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Conaway, Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected for her wedding an empire styled gown of white silk organza and lace with a cathedral train. Her tulle veil was held by a headpiece of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Christy Edler, wore a street length gown of pink crepe with an overskirt of white lace edged in pink satin. Miss Robin Conaway, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Nancy Search, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

MILLION STITCHES — Suzanne Neal, 21, poses in her 12-foot wedding gown in England, into which went more than a million crocheted stitches by Albert Banister, 81, and wife Violet, 71, in Devonshire. It took them nearly two years. Her wedding is scheduled for September, but may have to be postponed because two bridesmaids' gowns being crocheted by the Banisters may not be finished by then.

Miss Conaway's street length blue crepe gown had an overskirt of white lace edged in blue satin, while the junior attendant's gown was designed with a crepe bodice and chiffon skirt edged in pink satin. Each attendant carried a single pink rose.

Performing the duties of best man was James Dresbach. Seating the guests were Ronald French and William Gearhart, a cousin of the bride.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception in the community room of the church following the ceremony. Assisting hostesses were Miss Ann Gearhart, cousin of the bride, Miss Peggy Phillips and Miss Nicolette Kelley.

The new Mrs. Conaway graduated from Zane Trace High School in 1969. Her husband, a 1968 graduate of Zane Trace, is employed by the Mead Corporation. Upon their return from a wedding trip in the eastern states they will live on Route 1, Kingston.

Family Dinner Held Recently

Mrs. Ruth DeVault was hostess for a family dinner recently at her home in Washington C. H. A carry-in dinner was held with a birthday cake, in honor of Mr. DeVault, served with the dessert.

Attending the event were Mr. and Mrs. John Parret Sr., Route 2, Williamsport; Leslie Beathard and Joyce Ann, Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. David Parret and Chuckie, Savannah, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. John Parret Jr., Tim, Todd and Terry; Mr. and Mrs. James Parret, Route 2, Circleville; Mrs. Mary Vorhees, Robbie and Shelly, Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parret and Billy, Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. Floyd Swackhammer, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Swackhammer and Angie, and Mrs. Albert Beathard, Washington C. H.

Spec. 5 and Mrs. David Parret left the following day for Thunderbolt, Ga., where Mr. Parret is stationed. PFC James Parret will leave July 12 for Thailand. Both brothers are in the U. S. Army.

Mrs. John Hall recently returned from a year's stay in Germany and her husband will return Aug. 1.

Vocal entertainment was provided by Larry Zugg and the afternoon spent in conversation and games.

Arledge-Huffman

Bridal Shower

A bridal shower in honor of Miss Kathy Stout, fiancée of Thomas Ohlin, was held recently at Berndt's Restaurant in Youngstown.

Tables were covered with lime green linen. Sprinkling cans filled with philodendron and sweet Williams were used as centerpieces.

Crazy bridge was the diversion of the afternoon with prizes won by Mrs. Paul Stebelton, Mrs. Allen Hutko, Mrs. James Fry and Mrs. George Ohlin of the Youngstown area; Miss Kathy Stout and Mrs. Stanley Stout, Asheville, mother of the bride-to-be.

The wedding will be an event of Aug. 2 in Columbus.

Mrs. Stevens Honored With Baby Shower

A baby shower was held recently honoring Mrs. Gene Stevens at the home of Mrs. Richard Marshall, Dunkle Road. Assisting hostess was Mrs. Jerry Cassill. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are the parents of an infant son, Douglas.

The decorated gift table centered the room. Games were played with prizes won by Mrs. Harold Horn, Mrs. Charles Hemming and Mrs. Dale Allen.

Nixon Men Set Compromise On Revenue-Sharing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration apparently has settled on a compromise proposal in order to marshal support for its revenue-sharing plan, a key part of the President's program for decentralizing government.

The plan, one of three possibilities studied within the administration, is aimed at satisfying both state and local governments, at odds over how the shared federal money should be distributed.

Nixon gave revenue sharing a high priority when he sent his tax message to Congress in April, pledging a start would be made during fiscal 1971.

Presidential Counselor Arthur F. Burns said Tuesday he definitely hoped a suggested bill could be sent to Congress this session, spelling out administration plans.

Revenue sharing would give states, cities and counties—all strapped for money—a bigger share of the federal tax take. "It's the very guts of his plan to decentralize government," one spokesman said.

Nixon has made a clear commitment to revenue sharing and dozens of bills have been introduced in Congress, but mayors and governors have been noisily split over whether all money should go to the states for redistribution or a portion should go directly to the cities.

The compromise, known to economists as a "mandatory passthrough," would send the money to the states first but insure that specific amounts go to cities.

Burns said the governors, mayors and county officials at a meeting Tuesday did not discuss how much money would be in the program at first or what the specific passthrough formula would be.

Apollo Crewmen Carry The Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apollo 11 will carry the first mail, as well as the first man, to the moon.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said Wednesday the spacecraft will carry a special moon letter and an engraved master stamp die. Upon the astronauts' return, Blount said, the die will be used to produce a 10-cent airmail stamp commemorating the first moon landing.

The letter will be hand canceled by astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. Its postmark will read "Moon Landing U.S.A., July 20, 1969."

TREE DID IT—Emil Eisenlohr looks at the havoc in his kitchen in Fairview Park, Ohio, where a falling tree hammered the chimney right through the roof and down onto his stove. This is one of the damage incidents from the storm that left a trail of death in the northeastern part of the state.

French Quarter Is Saved From 6-Lane Expressway

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The city's old French Quarter, long a mecca for fun-loving tourists, has been saved from the intrusion of a six-lane highway.

The highway project was officially put to death in Washington Wednesday, leaving defenders of tradition in a state of euphoria and the city with a $1.3 million hole in the ground.

John A. Volpe, secretary of transportation, confirmed reports that the federal government had withdrawn financial support for the expressway as part of the interstate highway network.

Construction of the road, Volpe declared, "would have seriously impaired the historic quality of the French Quarter."

That's what landmark preservationists led by Martha Robinson and Mark Lowrey have been saying all along.

The Quarter is an original old square of New Orleans in the center of the city.

It is familiar to thousands of tourists who have wandered its narrow streets and reveled in its bars and nightclubs.

The expressway was vigorously backed by business groups as a necessity for quicker movement of traffic.

The decision in favor of preservation left an embarrassing cavity under the recently completed Rivergate, a big convention facility at the foot of Canal Street. It's a tunnel which was to have connected with the expressway.

Now the 690-foot tunnel goes nowhere.

Mayor Victor H. Schiro said some use must be found for the big hole in the ground. He got quite a few suggestions.

"They now have a beautiful place to grow mushrooms," said J. W. Simon Jr., executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Presidential Counselor Arthur F. Burns said Tuesday he definitely hoped a suggested bill could be sent to Congress this session, spelling out administration plans.

Revenue sharing would give states, cities and counties—all strapped for money—a bigger share of the federal tax take. "It's the very guts of his plan to decentralize government," one spokesman said.

Nixon has made a clear commitment to revenue sharing and dozens of bills have been introduced in Congress, but mayors and governors have been noisily split over whether all money should go to the states for redistribution or a portion should go directly to the cities.

The compromise, known to economists as a "mandatory passthrough," would send the money to the states first but insure that specific amounts go to cities.

Burns said the governors, mayors and county officials at a meeting Tuesday did not discuss how much money would be in the program at first or what the specific passthrough formula would be.

Apollo Crewmen Carry The Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apollo 11 will carry the first mail, as well as the first man, to the moon.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said Wednesday the spacecraft will carry a special moon letter and an engraved master stamp die. Upon the astronauts' return, Blount said, the die will be used to produce a 10-cent airmail stamp commemorating the first moon landing.

The letter will be hand canceled by astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. Its postmark will read "Moon Landing U.S.A., July 20, 1969."

French Quarter Is Saved From 6-Lane Expressway

By BILL CRIDER
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The city's old French Quarter, long a mecca for fun-loving tourists, has been saved from the intrusion of a six-lane highway.

The highway project was officially put to death in Washington Wednesday, leaving defenders of tradition in a state of euphoria and the city with a $1.3 million hole in the ground.

John A. Volpe, secretary of transportation, confirmed reports that the federal government had withdrawn financial support for the expressway as part of the interstate highway network.

Construction of the road, Volpe declared, "would have seriously impaired the historic quality of the French Quarter."

That's what landmark preservationists led by Martha Robinson and Mark Lowrey have been saying all along.

The Quarter is an original old square of New Orleans in the center of the city.

It is familiar to thousands of tourists who have wandered its narrow streets and reveled in its bars and nightclubs.

The expressway was vigorously backed by business groups as a necessity for quicker movement of traffic.

The decision in favor of preservation left an embarrassing cavity under the recently completed Rivergate, a big convention facility at the foot of Canal Street. It's a tunnel which was to have connected with the expressway.

Now the 690-foot tunnel goes nowhere. Mayor Victor H. Schiro said some use must be found for the big hole in the ground. He got quite a few suggestions.

"They now have a beautiful place to grow mushrooms," said J. W. Simon Jr., executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Europe Wants Arms Talks, But Fears 'Sellout' By U.S.

BRUSSELS (AP) — West European governments are all for Moscow and Washington trying to halt the arms race, but they fear the United States may ride away their security.

Diplomats report member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are seeking reassurances from Philip Farley, deputy assistant secretary of state and No. 2 U.S. negotiator in the proposed strategic arms limitation talks.

The diplomats say NATO members fear the United States might trade away weapons that protect Western Europe in return for Soviet concessions on missiles the two superpowers have aimed at one another.

They point out that Polaris submarines and strategic bombers are more useful for defending Europe than intercontinental missiles in American silos.

Besides worrying about what Washington might give up for a reduction in Soviet missiles trained on the United States, West Europeans also are concerned about possible U.S. concessions in return for a reduction in the estimated 750 Soviet missiles trained on Western Europe.

They say there is nothing equivalent in Western Europe, and even if the Polaris submarines partly counter this threat the West Europeans have no control over them.

Still another West European concern is that an agreed stalemate between Washington and Moscow on strategic missiles would show up the weakness of Western Europe in conventional arms.

The Americans have a quick answer for this. They have long complained the Europeans are not pulling their own weight in conventional defense and insist a little extra spending and planning coordination would bring big returns in this department.

The West Europeans have not heard enough about American negotiating plans to present their full official viewpoints. Two top-secret briefings were held at NATO headquarters last week, before Farley's arrival; two were held Tuesday and Wednesday, and another two are scheduled next week.

JAMBOREE BOUND — Three Circleville Boy Scouts will attend the seventh National Boy Scout Jamboree at Farragut State Park, Idaho. The boys, Gary Scherer (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scherer, 610 Garden Parkway; Chuck Whitfield (center), son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Whitfield, 670 Garden Parkway; and David Grigg (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grigg, 905 N. Atwater Ave., will fly to Seattle, Wash., Sunday. They are a part of a 120-person contingent from the central Ohio council. Besides the many scouting activities slated for the seven-day event, they will meet over 40,000 scouts from all the 50 United States and many foreign countries.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To get to Barbara Feldon's home you put the car into gear and aim it for the sky.

Barbara lives in a two-bedroom house perched at the top of the Hollywood Hills, in ear-popping, cliff-hanging drive up from the smoggy valley below.

Dressed in a black sweater and pants, Barbara was at the door and padded about the house in her stocking feet. Her dark hair was pulled back into a pony tail and bangs and she looked ready for a caper as Agent 99 on "Get Smart."

The series, which topped Emmies as the outstanding comedy show and for star Don Adams, was snatched up for next season by CBS when NBC dropped it.

Settling on the sofa, Barbara said, "It really was a shock, because our ratings were very good. It was a surprise, not a shock. I wasn't dismayed, however. I had a feeling of buoyancy. Suddenly, the whole horizon opens to you. Movies, my own series."

She laughed. "The next day CBS bought it and I felt that a great sense of security had settled back over me."

Barbara said she couldn't be happier with the life she leads. "We shoot in three days and that gives me four days free," she said. "On the set you're romping, wearing funny costumes. I love to put mustaches on."

"With four days off you can live, that's what you can do, which is what most actors complain about. I take guitar lessons on my day off. I can play tennis. I have friends in for a dinner a few nights a week."

Barbara was asked about reports that she and Don, her husband on the show, will have twins early in the season in an effort to boost the ratings.

"That's what I've read in the papers," she said. "We did a show last week where I just told Don I was going to have a baby. My progress is going to be rather rapid. As you watch, folks!"

"I was afraid when we got married last year that it wouldn't work out. But it opened new avenues for the writers," Barbara said. "They tell me they can handle the babies, too."

Standing on a tripod by the sliding glass doors of the living room was a six-inch telescope. "I look at the moon, mainly," she explained. "I love to see the sun hit the tops of the mountains on the moon. You can get lost in that."

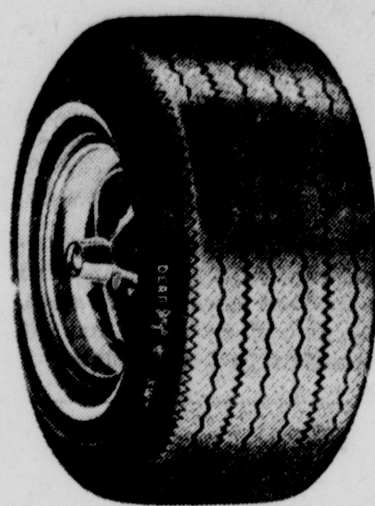

Barbara was asked what kind of movie roles she wanted to play. "It would be easier to do the dramatic parts I trained for," she said. "but that leaves you feeling wrong out after a day of crying on the set. I'd rather giggle and laugh and joke and romp."

Dear Abby: Everything But Love Here

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: People think we are a happy pair with nice children and a lovely home. We have many interests and lots of friends. This is only on the surface. In reality, I am only the housekeeper. My husband has no time for me. He is so busy helping Tom, Dick, and Harry. I rarely see him. My love life is almost nonexistent.

Life is so short, it's a pity to live like this, but I have made my bed. Despite our religion, I'd leave him if it weren't for the children because I KNOW HE WILL NEVER CHANGE. I am sure there are other unhappy wives here. Belfast men are so unloving.

"UNHAPPY IN IRELAND" DEAR UNHAPPY: Belfast men are no less "loving" than other men. Your complaint is universal, Madame. And the solution is so obvious. I'm surprised you haven't thought of it yourself. Stop playing the role of the abused and martyred wife, and "kill" your man with kindness.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother (I'll call him Danny) and his wife have separated after many years of marriage. I invited Danny to my home for Sunday dinner and he accepted. Then he called my husband at the office and asked if he could bring a date. Without asking me, my husband said he could.

When I was told of this, I let my husband know that I did not approve of it. In the first place Danny isn't divorced yet, and in the second place we have children at home and I don't think it's right for them to see their uncle with a date while he is still married.

Well, my husband insisted, telling me how depressed Danny was, etc., so I gave in, but I made sure my children weren't home that evening. Now, my husband tells me that Danny is coming for Sunday dinner again, and he is bringing a girl. A different one!

I am furious with my husband for being so wishy washy. I think it is wrong to receive a married man's dates in my home. What is your opinion?

OLD FASHIONED DEAR OLD: I go along with you. And I also think it's inconsiderate of your husband to trap you into entertaining people you do not want in your home. It's YOUR home, too.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I disagree on something I consider vital to a good marriage. I disapprove of a married man taking his secretary out to lunch, or dinner or even for a drink after office hours.

My husband says it is a nice way to show his appreciation for extra work, or a job well done. What do you say?

GEMINI DEAR GEMINI: I say, if a boss wants to show "appreciation" he should try money.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for the letter from "BITTER," who asked if she should take legal action against the dirty rat who told his wife EVERYTHING in order to relieve her of all the anguish he had caused her.

It's the best laugh I've had since my husband decided to relieve ME of all the anguish he'd caused me for the same reason.

She sounds like the same ding-a-ling my husband had his romp with, except SHE threatened to sue ME for calling her "a lady of ill repute"—only I didn't use such refined language.

What do these gals expect from their back alley intimacies with married men who use them with no intention of leaving their wives? It would be interesting to hear from some of these ladies. All of us "relieved-of-anguish" wives could use a good laugh.

WE'VE CRIED ENOUGH

12 Hospitals Sue State For Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Court suits filed here Wednesday accuse the Ohio Department of Public Welfare of discriminating against big-city poor in its hospital care reimbursement system.

The common pleas court suits by 12 northeastern Ohio hospitals ask for an order compelling the state to base its reimbursement payments on actual costs to hospitals rather than on the ratio system now used.

Under current state policy, no hospital in Ohio can get more reimbursement money than the average per-year expenditure for relief cases in the 25 hospitals getting the most relief money.

The suing hospitals, two in Akron and 10 in Cleveland, say their relief care cases far exceed the average rate. The state reimbursement ceiling, therefore, discriminates against the institutions that carry the bulk of the poor relief burden, the suits contend.

The hospitals are asking for damages "in an amount to be proved at the time of trial" to recover funds they say they have spent on poor relief care above what the state has repaid. Claimants in the suits, which name Welfare Director Denver L. White as respondent, are Akron Children's Hospital, Akron General Hospital, Mount Sinai, St. Luke's, St. Vincent Charity, University, Brentwood, Grace, Huron Road, Lutheran and Cleveland Osteopathic hospitals all of Cleveland.

SOIL SURVEY CREW — Norris Williams (right) a soil resource specialist, Division of Lands and Soil, Department of Natural Resources, is heading a three-man team physically plotting soil in Pickaway County. Other members of the team are Lyle Jones (left) and James Kerr (center). The three will check soil in Pickaway County for approximately four years.

Government Soil Survey Commences In County

By NORRIS L. WILLIAMS
Soil Resource Specialist

An acre-by-acre soil survey has been started by the personnel of the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Lands and Soil July 1.

Cooperating with the Department of Natural Resources in making this soil survey will be the Soil Conservation Service and the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center. The Pickaway County Commissioners are also assisting in the survey by allocating funds to conduct laboratory studies of the major soils in the county.

The chemical and physical studies of these important soils will be conducted by the Ohio State University laboratories.

The soil survey crew will be headed by Norris L. Williams, a graduate of Ohio State University. Mr. Williams has also done graduate work in Agronomy (soils) at Ohio State and has 10 years of field experience throughout various counties in Ohio. James W. Kerr, also an Ohio State University graduate with 6 years field experience, and Lyle A. Jones a senior at Ohio State, working this summer as a student-in-training, completes the crew.

SOIL mapping operations will be started in the Wisconsin glaciated till plain of Monroe and Muhlenburg Townships in the vicinity of Darbyville and Five Points.

However, so the Soil Resource Specialists obtain an overall view of the soils existing in the county, they will be mapping small land areas within the terrace and flood plain regions of the Scioto River and the more sloping low lime Wisconsin glaciated till areas of Washington and Salt Creek Townships.

So, this first year or so the citizens of the county may see these soil men with their aerial photographs, tubes, spades, and other equipment walking over and digging into the soil anywhere in the county.

A soil survey is an acre-by-acre study of the soils as they occur on the landscape. Soils are classified and named, just as plants and animals.

Plants are identified by such characteristics as the structure of flower, shape and size of the stem and leaf. Soils are identified, classified, and named by such characteristics as color, texture, structure, kinds and number of layers or horizons, depth to bedrock, hardpan, or sand and gravel, pH, and others.

This soil survey is primarily a study of the physical characteristics of the soil rather than the chemical properties.

The characteristics needed to classify and separate soils are determined in the field by digging numerous holes, observing the soil in road cuts, highway excavations and so forth.

THE information gathered observing the soil in the field includes the kind of soil drainage, slope, erosion, stoniness, depth to various materials as bedrock, till and sand and gravel. The soil boundaries of each soil type containing all this information is plotted or drawn out on aerial photographs having a scale of 1 inch equals 1,000 feet.

Soil descriptions will be written of these soils and the ones that have like characteristics are grouped together. Soils that have unlike characteristics such as greater erosion hazards, diverse drainage and different crop production are connected. Soil samples will also be taken of major soils in some areas for laboratory studies at Ohio State University but samples will not be taken from every field or every farm.

Farmers and other agricultural people in the Pickaway County Soil & Water Conservation District will be able to use the soil survey in planning and carrying out their soil and water conservation plans.

Engineers, architects, planners, zoning officials, tax assessors, auditors, contractors, highway engineers, and health department officials will find the information gathered in this survey most useful and economically rewarding.

With the ever increasing demands that are being placed on the land for the expansion of the cities, the building of multilane highways, airports, reservoirs, lakes, golf courses, and many other recreational developments, it has become increasingly important that each acre is used wisely and protected for future food and fiber productions.

A generalized soil map of the county is already available for those people who desire a broad concept of the different kinds of soils, their properties, and their extent.

The soil survey crew will maintain their central office in Chillicothe but they hope to have a branch office located in Circleville in the near future. Presently, however, if further information and assistance concerning soils and the soil survey program is desired, please contact the Division of Lands and Soil at 345 Allen Ave., Chillicothe, 45601 or telephone 774-1596 or 774-1506.

Dear Abby: Everything But Love Here

DEAR ABBY: People think we are a happy pair with nice children and a lovely home. We have many interests and lots of friends. This is only on the surface. In reality, I am only the housekeeper. My husband has no time for me. He is so busy helping Tom, Dick, and Harry. I rarely see him. My love life is almost nonexistent.

Life is so short, it's a pity to live like this, but I have made my bed. Despite our religion, I'd leave him if it weren't for the children because I KNOW HE WILL NEVER CHANGE. I am sure there are other unhappy wives here. Belfast men are so unloving.

"UNHAPPY IN IRELAND"
DEAR UNHAPPY: Belfast men are no less "loving" than other men. Your complaint is universal, Madame. And the solution is so obvious, I'm surprised you haven't thought of it yourself. Stop playing the role of the abused and martyred wife, and "kill" your man with kindness.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother (I'll call him Danny) and his wife have separated after many years of marriage. I invited Danny to my home for Sunday dinner and he accepted. Then he called my husband at the office and asked if he could bring a date. Without asking me, my husband said he could.

When I was told of this, I let my husband know that I did not approve of it. In the first place Danny isn't divorced yet, and in the second place we have children at home and I don't think it's right for them to see their uncle with a date while he is still married.

Well, my husband insisted, telling me how depressed Danny was, etc., so I gave in, but I made sure my children weren't home that evening.

Now, my husband tells me that Danny is coming for Sunday dinner again, and he is bringing a girl. A different one!

I am furious with my husband for being so wishy washy. I think it is wrong to receive a married man's dates in my home. What is your opinion?

OLD FASHIONED
DEAR OLD: I go along with you. And I also think it's inconsiderate of your husband to trap you into entertaining people you do not want in your home. It's YOUR home, too.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I disagree on something I consider vital to a good marriage. I disapprove of a married man taking his secretary out to lunch, or dinner or even for a drink after office hours.

My husband says it is a nice way to show his appreciation for extra work, or a job well done. What do you say?

GEMINI
DEAR GEMINI: I say, if a boss wants to show "appreciation" he should try money.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for the letter from "BITTER," who asked if she should take legal action against the dirty rat who told his wife EVERYTHING in order to relieve her of all the anguish he had caused her.

It's the best laugh I've had since my husband decided to relieve ME of all the anguish he'd caused me for the same reason.

She sounds like the same ding-a-ling my husband had his romp with, except SHE threatened to sue ME for calling her "a lady of ill repute"—only I didn't use such refined language.

What do these gals expect from their back alley intimacies with married men who use them with no intention of leaving their wives? It would be interesting to hear from some of these ladies. All of us "relieved-of-anguish" wives could use a good laugh.

WE'VE CRIED ENOUGH

12 Hospitals Sue State For Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Court suits filed here Wednesday accuse the Ohio Department of Public Welfare of discriminating against big-city poor in its hospital care reimbursement system.

The common pleas court suits by 12 northeastern Ohio hospitals ask for an order compelling the state to base its reimbursement payments on actual costs to hospitals rather than on the ratio system now used.

Under current state policy, no hospital in Ohio can get more reimbursement money than the average per-year expenditure for relief cases in the 25 hospitals getting the most relief money.

The suing hospitals, two in Akron and 10 in Cleveland, say their relief care cases far exceed the average rate. The state reimbursement ceiling, therefore, discriminates against the institutions that carry the bulk of the poor relief burden, the suits contend.

The hospitals are asking for damages "in an amount to be proved at the time of trial" to recover funds they say they have spent on poor relief care above

what the state has repaid. Claimants in the suits, which name Welfare Director Denver L. White as respondent, are Akron Children's Hospital, Mount Sinai, St. Luke's, St. Vincent Charity, University, Brentwood, Grace, Huron Road, Lutheran and Cleveland Osteopathic hospitals all of Cleveland.

Officer Says Substitutions In Battalion Were Justified

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — The commander of the first U.S. troop unit withdrawn from Vietnam says the substitution of 650 men from other battalions for the trip home was a just move by the Army.

The returning 3rd Battalion, 60th Infantry of the 9th Infantry Division included 788 men, but only 138 were original battalion members. The rest were men near the end of their one-year tours of duty who were transferred into the 3rd from other units.

"In fairness to the individual soldier it was decided that those who had been there the longest would go home first," Lt. Col.

Peter B. Petersen of Arlington, Va., the 3rd's commander, said Wednesday.

"Suppose my battalion as constituted did go home. Consider the reaction of an adjacent battalion which had people who had been there 11½ months when they saw people going home after one or two months of their tour."

Petersen, 36, had completed 8½ months of his own tour of Vietnam duty and will return to Southeast Asia Sunday to join the 9th Division staff.

His views were seconded by Sgt. John Griest, 24, of Holtwood, Pa., who was a member of the 3rd Battalion throughout his 11 months in Vietnam.

"I feel it was about the fairest way they could have done it," said Griest. "No matter what way they do it, some guys are going to be hurt or disappointed."

The substitution of men from other units caused some bitterness among displaced members of the 3rd Battalion.

First Lt. Paul Caputo of Brooklyn, N.Y., told a reporter in Dong Tam, South Vietnam, "They are just kidding the public, telling folks the 3rd Battalion is going home when in fact only the colors and standards are going home."

Among the actual returnees Tuesday, length of service in Vietnam ranged from 10 to 23 months.

Elizabeth Taylor May Quit Work

LONDON (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor says, "I may never work again."

The film beauty discussed her career Wednesday at a ceremony in a hotel where she handed a check for $240,000, raised by voluntary organizations, to the National Society for Handicapped Children.

"I do not have a film in line and shall not consider one unless something captivating comes along," Miss Taylor remarked.

Budget Is Approved

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County commissioners approved a $26.3 million budget Wednesday—some $5.7 million less than anticipated expenses.

Georgia, Chicago Reply To School Warnings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new federal warning to the State of Georgia and the City of Chicago on school desegregation has drawn a sharp retort from Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, while Chicago school officials deny their faculties are segregated.

"As far as I'm concerned, they can take their ultimatum and ram it in their satchels if they want to," Maddox told an Atlanta news conference Wednesday. "Phooey on the whole crowd!"

In Chicago, the city's school board president, Frank M. Whiston, and Schools Supt. James F. Redmond said, in a joint statement, "We have never practiced segregation of faculty in Chicago, but we have permitted seniority of choice of schools by our teachers."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Jerrie Leonard warned Wednesday in Washington that the government would press lawsuits against Georgia and Chicago unless they move to end public school desegregation.

It was the third day in a row that the Justice Department acted to end school desegregation, and the 10th and 11th warnings issued in that time.

The Georgia warning, in a letter to the state superintendent of education, Jack P. Nix, demanded a "complete disestablishment" of dual schools for white and black pupils in the state's 194 school districts. Ninety-seven are now considered in compliance with federal guidelines on desegregation.

Nix said, "I don't think the state can set policy if desegregation means reorganization of schools. The state board doesn't have that authority."

In the Chicago situation, the

Local Banker Attends Seminar

David Leroy Garrett, associated with the Savings Bank of Circleville, is one of 80 banker students attending the sixth Annual Ohio School of Installment Credit scheduled July 13-18 at Kent State University, Kent.

All section of the state will be represented according to the Ohio Bankers Assn. sponsors of the event.

The school is comprised of a one-week session covering all aspects of installment lending. During the week, the students will also hear addresses from leading bankers and educators.

Justice Department letter to Whiston demanded complete faculty integration. Leonard said a department survey showed a third of the city's schools have all-white or all-black faculties.

Chicago has the nation's third largest public school system, behind New York and Los Angeles.

Thomas Murray, a school board vice president, said an Illinois law requires that teachers be assigned to the school of their choice in relation to their tenure.

A Negro school board member, Mrs. Carey B. Preston, said the teachers' union would have to work with the board to solve the problem.

Warren Bacon, another black school board member, said he welcomed the warning but added:

"I do not think the action the federal government has taken is broad enough nor is it a significant counterbalance to the disgraceful relaxation of federal guidelines for the desegregation of Southern school districts."

Agents' Meet Slated

The Pickaway County Insurance Agents Assn. will meet noon Friday at the Pickaway Arms Restaurant.

Two Georgia civil rights leaders also were critical of the federal action.

"I am not too enthusiastic about the Justice Department trying to speed up desegregation in Georgia," said Sam Williams, second vice president of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

John McCown, executive director of the Georgia Council on Human Relations, said, "We view it with mixed emotions. We don't know if this is a delaying tactic or whether it is possible. If it is, we'd like to see it done."

Fishhook Club

Schedules Meet

The Fishhook Club will meet at A. W. Marion State Park July 17. Recreation and entertainment will begin about 4:30 and a carry-in dinner will start at 7 p.m.

Willard D. England will be the speaker of the evening. If the weather is bad, the club will meet at the 4-H and Grange Building on the fairgrounds.

30 Narcotics Cases Dismissed In Court

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — At the advice of Ottawa County Prosecutor Lowell Peterson, 30 pending narcotics cases were dismissed Wednesday in Common Pleas Court.

Peterson said he believed there was insufficient evidence to prosecute the cases and said he did not want to waste the taxpayers' money if guilt could not be proven.

Police Chief Resigns In Council Clash

Frank Wood, chief of the New Holland two-man part-time police force, submitted his resignation to village council Monday night, effective immediately.

The resignation came as a result of a dispute with council member Dale Funk who failed to obtain a building permit for a house he is building in the village.

Several months ago New Holland Mayor Lincoln Schwartz and council had instructed Wood to "clamp down" on buildings being erected without permits as prescribed by city ordinance. The mayor said several notices had been served on persons erecting new structures and they all complied or had been cited, except for Funk.

The building committee comprised of three councilmen, refused to file charges against Funk for not obtaining a building permit because "they didn't want to make anyone mad."

Wood, described as "an outstanding police officer by the mayor, told council that he could not arrest one man for the offense and let another go. It was for this reason he submitted his resignation."

As of Tuesday night, Funk had still not applied for a building permit.

Peter B. Petersen of Arlington, Va., the 3rd's commander, said Wednesday.

"Suppose my battalion as constituted did go home. Consider the reaction of an adjacent battalion which had people who had been there 11½ months when they saw people going home after one or two months of their tour."

Petersen, 36, had completed 8½ months of his own tour of Vietnam duty and will return to Southeast Asia Sunday to join the 9th Division staff.

His views were seconded by Sgt. John Griest, 24, of Holtwood, Pa., who was a member of the 3rd Battalion throughout his 11 months in Vietnam.

"I feel it was about the fairest way they could have done it," said Griest. "No matter what way they do it, some guys are going to be hurt or disappointed."

The substitution of men from other units caused some bitterness among displaced members of the 3rd Battalion.

First Lt. Paul Caputo of Brooklyn, N.Y., told a reporter in Dong Tam, South Vietnam, "They are just kidding the public, telling folks the 3rd Battalion is going home when in fact only the colors and standards are going home."

Among the actual returnees Tuesday, length of service in Vietnam ranged from 10 to 23 months.

Elizabeth Taylor May Quit Work

LONDON (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor says, "I may never work again."

The film beauty discussed her career Wednesday at a ceremony in a hotel where she handed a check for $240,000, raised by voluntary organizations, to the National Society for Handicapped Children.

"I do not have a film in line and shall not consider one unless something captivating comes along," Miss Taylor remarked.

Budget Is Approved

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County commissioners approved a $26.3 million budget Wednesday—some $5.7 million less than anticipated expenses.

Georgia, Chicago Reply To School Warnings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new federal warning to the State of Georgia and the City of Chicago on school desegregation has drawn a sharp retort from Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, while Chicago school officials deny their faculties are segregated.

"As far as I'm concerned, they can take their ultimatum and ram it in their satchels if they want to," Maddox told an Atlanta news conference Wednesday. "Phooey on the whole crowd!"

In Chicago, the city's school board president, Frank M. Whiston, and Schools Supt. James F. Redmond said, in a joint statement, "We have never practiced segregation of faculty in Chicago, but we have permitted seniority of choice of schools by our teachers."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard warned Wednesday in Washington that the government would press lawsuits against Georgia and Chicago unless they move to end public school desegregation.

It was the third day in a row that the Justice Department acted to end school desegregation, and the 10th and 11th warnings issued in that time.

The Georgia warning, in a letter to the state superintendent of education, Jack P. Nix, demanded a "complete disestablishment" of dual schools for white and black pupils in the state's 194 school districts. Ninety-seven are now considered in compliance with federal guidelines on desegregation.

Nix said, "I don't think the state can set policy if desegregation means reorganization of schools. The state board doesn't have that authority."

In the Chicago situation, the

Local Banker Attends Seminar

David Leroy Garrett, associated with the Savings Bank of Circleville, is one of 80 banker students attending the sixth Annual Ohio School of Installment Credit scheduled July 13-18 at Kent State University, Kent.

All section of the state will be represented according to the Ohio Bankers Assn. sponsors of the event.

The school is comprised of a one-week session covering all aspects of installment lending. During the week, the students will also hear addresses from leading bankers and educators.

Justice Department letter to Whiston demanded complete faculty integration. Leonard said a department survey showed a third of the city's schools have all-white or all-black faculties.

Chicago has the nation's third largest public school system, behind New York and Los Angeles.

Thomas Murray, a school board vice president, said an Illinois law requires that teachers be assigned to the school of their choice in relation to their tenure.

A Negro school board member, Mrs. Carey B. Preston, said the teachers' union would have to work with the board to solve the problem.

Warren Bacon, another black school board member, said he welcomed the warning but added: "I do not think the action the federal government has taken is broad enough nor is it a significant counterbalance to the disgraceful relaxation of federal guidelines for the desegregation of Southern school districts."

Agents' Meet Slated

The Pickaway County Insurance Agents Assn. will meet noon Friday at the Pickaway Arms Restaurant.

Two Georgia civil rights leaders also were critical of the federal action.

"I am not too enthusiastic about the Justice Department

trying to speed up desegregation in Georgia," said Sam Williams, second vice president of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

John McCown, executive director of the Georgia Council on Human Relations, said, "We view it with mixed emotions. We don't know if this is a delaying tactic or whether it is possible. If it is, we'd like to see it done."

Fishhook Club Schedules Meet

The Fishhook Club will meet at A. W. Marion State Park July 17. Recreation and entertainment will begin about 4:30 and a carry-in dinner will start at 7 p.m.

Willard D. England will be the speaker of the evening. If the weather is bad, the club will meet at the 4-H and Grange Building on the fairgrounds.

30 Narcotics Cases Dismissed In Court

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — At the advice of Ottawa County Prosecutor Lowell Peterson, 30 pending narcotics cases were dismissed Wednesday in Common Pleas Court.

Peterson said he believed there was insufficient evidence to prosecute the cases and said he did not want to waste the taxpayers' money if guilt could not be proven.

Migrant Workers Face Mechanization Of Their Jobs

By STEVE DRAKE
Associated Press Writer
Migrant workers, complaining of no work or poor wages, may soon have a bigger jolt—mechanization of their jobs. Each year 25,000-35,000 migrants work the fields of northwestern Ohio in the big four of vegetable crops — cabbage, cucumbers for pickles, sugar beets and tomatoes. They also help in the harvest of strawberries and cherries.

Income from the vegetable crops totaled nearly $32 million in 1968.

Early completion of hand work in the South combined with heavy spring and summer rains have left many migrants in northwestern Ohio without work, but the real threat to migrants is from mechanization, which most farm experts say could come within five years.

Floods damaged tomatoes, pickles and sugar beets in parts of Lucas, Ottawa and Sandusky counties, but most of the vegetable producing counties in Ohio missed the powerful July Fourth storms and floods.

Cherries were damaged the most in the storms, according to Paul Wright, farm management specialist for the cooperative extension service. High winds beat ripe cherries off trees and bruised them. Farmers, compressing a two-week season into four days, were forced to sell the bruised cherries at lower prices.

Only about 2 per cent of crops in Putnam County, a leading producer of sugar beets and tomatoes, were damaged by spring and summer rains, said Karl Ellerbrock, office manager of the Putnam County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

possible for us to do business this way. The law doesn't permit it. The requests must be handled in the appropriate fashion."

Noggle said a very small staff (one full time and one part time staffer) at Fremont was having trouble handling the huge number of relief requests.

Farm officials said most of the hand work has been completed until the pickle harvest begins later this month. The crush labor period comes in late August during the peak harvest season of pickles and tomatoes.

The lull between now and the harvest worries migrants.

"I think the lull will be pretty bad this year," Lira says. "Crops were damaged. Both the migrant and the farmer is in for a rough time."

"The migrants will be hurtling more than usual because of the late harvest of tomatoes. From mid-July to mid-August will be the toughest," said Ellerbrock.

"It's going to be a long, hard summer for migrants," says Ted Iorio, a FLOC board member. "There has been a big influx of labor. Many beet fields were flooded and for the people without work it is a long stretch between now and tomato picking."

Iorio said FLOC purchased about $500 of food and gave it to 100 families who had no money and little to eat. He said there is a bigger need for emergency food and shelter for migrants.

"It's an endless cycle for the migrants," Iorio says. "I don't know where it starts or ends. These are mobile pockets of poverty. If we don't stop it now or prepare for mechanization, they will become stable poverty pockets."

Lira said FLOC was organizing a Migrant Community Development Corp. to train people and to help build houses.

"To meet mechanization, we'll have to train migrants for other jobs," he says. "There's a big demand for Mexican-American factory workers in Toledo, but we have to build houses for them."

Most of Ohio's migrants live in Texas, Alabama and Arkansas during the winter. They work the fields of the South or other midwestern states before bringing their families to northwestern Ohio.

Many migrants are recruited by the Farm Placement Service of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Service. Others return each year to the same farm and some come to Ohio with no firm job commitment.

"Our job is to help the grower get his labor and to insure the worker continuity of employment," says James Byrne, farm placement chief. He said his staff recruits migrants in 13-14 states.

Byrne said mechanization has not decreased the demand for migrants yet, but said his staff hopes to upgrade qualifications of the worker for other jobs through education and on-the-job training.

"Mechanization will come all at once," Maddy says. "Growers could harvest pickles and thin beets mechanically this year, but they are holding back until a new tomato variety is developed so they have migrants available to pick tomatoes."

He said if Ohio growers don't meet the competition from California—which harvests 95 per cent of its tomatoes by machine—and other states, they may be forced out of business.

Delaying machine harvest of tomatoes is development of a variety which ripens uniformly.

Even without the new variety, which agricultural officials believe one to four years away, some 27-30 mechanical tomato pickers are expected to be used in Ohio this season.

"It's moving quite rapidly toward machine harvesting," said William Brooks, extension horticulturalist at Ohio State University.

He said the trouble in Ohio is finding a tomato plant which will withstand cracking from moisture.

Sugar beets in Ohio are completely planted and harvested mechanically but are about 97 per cent hand thinned. Some thinning machines, costing about $6,000 have been introduced.

A tomato harvester costs $27,000-$30,000. A pickle harvester runs $12,000-$15,000. Two Ohio growers have invented a machine which harvests cabbage for kraut and Brooks said he thought all of the state's cabbage for kraut would be machine harvested within five years.

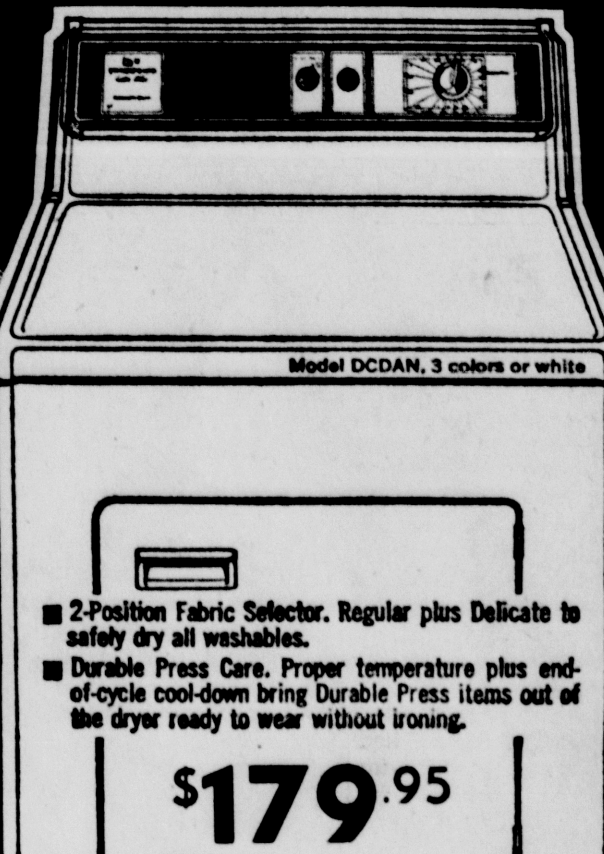

Growers say they are caught between lower prices for their crops and higher costs of machines and demands for higher wages and better housing for the migrants.

"The honeymoon for vegetable producers in northwestern Ohio is over," Maddy says. "With attempts to organize migrants and the advent of the mechanical harvester, income from tomatoes and pickles is little better than field corn with which they compete for a farmer's acreage. We've had two farmers in this county this year discontinue growing tomatoes."

"The real concern I've got for the migrant is what's going to become of these people when they are replaced by a machine?"

Westfall School District Offers Summer Program

By DAVE AMEY

With "pop" music piped from a Columbus radio station playing in the hallways, a regular physical education program everyday, a 15-minute cookie and milk break, and much more individual attention, summer school can't be all bad.

These are the thoughts-put-to-action by Richard Everman, coordinator for the Westfall School District's summer school program in its third year at Westfall High School.

In presenting the program to the Westfall School District,

Everman said that "we have found that regardless of the materials or methods, children who have individual attention from a teacher will gain new confidences and learn much more rapidly than before."

As a result, for every teacher in the program, an average of four students are enrolled. There are about 160 students and 33 teachers.

STUDENTS are selected to attend the sessions on the basis of tests administered by teachers in the regular school sessions, according to Everman.

The total program, as operated by Everman, consists of three basic parts, all leading to the improvement of the basic skill of students who have experienced difficulties in certain areas.

A mathematics and reading program has been established for students in grades 1-8, set-up to help develop and improve comprehension, understanding and skills in these areas.

For high school students, the Westfall school district has established a tutorial program in English, mathematics and Social Studies. The classes are also open to drop-outs.

Students successfully completing these courses will receive credit for them, Everman said.

For students, or anyone interested, the school district has offered night courses in drafting and blue-print reading. Object of the classes is to allow for further education and to give the students a direct road to the labor market upon graduation.

AND while the programs benefit Westfall students, they do not cost the Westfall taxpayer additional funds.

The program, as set up, is funded by the federal government under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Educational Act of 1965.

The friendly atmosphere of teaching in the program is not lost to the students either.

Teachers are pounded with a ball in physical education, shoot basketball, and work out on the trampoline. In academic areas, a teacher will huddle with four students at a desk to discuss a problem.

One of the main goals of such a program is to have the atmosphere carry-over into the regular school program in the fall.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

There were widely scattered showers over the state during the night and scattered thundershowers are forecast for most of the state this afternoon and tonight.

The thundershowers are expected to end over all but the extreme south portion of the state as a weak trough moves to near the Ohio River by late tonight. The showers will end in extreme southern Ohio as the trough continues southward beyond the Ohio River by Friday evening.

It will be a little less humid Friday as a drier air mass spreads over the state. Afternoon highs will be mostly in the 80s. The outlook for Saturday is fair and warm.

FORECASTS — OHIO — Scattered thundershowers mainly ending over all but south by late tonight. Lows tonight from the mid 60s north to the mid 70s south. Fair and less humid central and north Friday and variable cloudiness, warm and humid with a chance of thundershowers south.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST OHIO — Partly cloudy and a little cooler tonight. Lows in the low to mid 60s. Mostly fair and mild Friday. Highs in the lower 80s. Outlook Saturday: Fair with little change in temperatures.

CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL OHIO — Variable cloudiness, warm and humid with a chance of thundershowers tonight. Lows in the upper 60s. Partly cloudy and a little cooler and less humid Friday. Highs in the low to mid 80s. Outlook Saturday: Fair with little change in temperatures.

FIRST GRADE INSTRUCTION — Students enrolled in the first grade summer school program are taught the rudiments of mathematics. Mrs. Mildred Davis (left) and Miss Dhel Renick (right) are assigned to give the students more individual attention.

READING SKILLS — Mrs. Mabel Walker instructs her third grade class on language usage in preparation for better reading skills at the Westfall High School during a summer school session. The students are learning prefixes and suffixes.

SUMMER SCHOOL HEAD — Mr. Richard Everman is coordinator of the Westfall School District's summer school program. The program, as established, is funded by the federal government under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. It is held Monday thru Friday, 8-11:30 a.m. at Westfall High School.

HIGH SCHOOL MATH — Mrs. Kathryn Tadlock is giving individual instruction to a Westfall High School student seeking extra help in math at the Westfall High School. Other courses offered for high schoolers are English and social studies.

Big Rat Kill In New Jersey

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Hundreds of rats were driven from Military Park downtown by police armed with shotguns. Police said 23 rats were killed.

Observers said the rats apparently had been driven from an underground parking garage by recent rains and found a readily available food supply in the bread crumbs left to feed pigeons.

Police said they were selective in choosing targets for fear that shotgun pellets would bounce off sidewalks and injure onlookers. They said the rats ran into bushes and disappeared when the shooting started.

Laurelville News By Mrs. Ray Poling

The residents of the Fox Nursing Home in Laurelville were visited on Sunday, July 6 by the Les Amies Sunday School class of the Trinity Methodist Church.

Included in the visiting group were: Mrs. Robert West, Mrs. Raymond Rice, Mrs. Olive Warnes, Mrs. Don Kempton, Mrs. Robert Bowers, Mrs. Robert DeLong, Miss Goldie Byers, Mrs. Ramon Maxson, Mrs. Arthur Hinton, Miss Margaret Chilcote, Mrs. Howard Egan, Mrs. W. K. Dumm and Miss Ruth Bowers. The group joined in singing "In My Heart There Rings a Melody," "I Love to Tell the Story," "Jesus Saves," "Love Lifted Me," "The Old Rugged Cross," "Count Your Blessings," "When the Roll is Called" and "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Miss Byers, President of the Les Amies Class read Psalm one hundred, Margaret Chilcote, teacher of the class offered prayer and Mrs. West, church organist accompanied the group on the piano.

Several of the patients and employees joined in the singing. Myrtle and Grove Fox, owners and operators of the home also participated.

Funeral services were held on Saturday for Lawrence (Lon) Payne, 84, who died in Logan Hospital after several weeks illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ashmore (Georgia Danner) on Route 327 are the parents of a daughter born June 26th.

The Rev. Francis Huber and family have moved into the U.M. parsonage on Pike street.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Boecher Sr. and Mrs. Clyde Boecher of Columbus and Mrs. Hazel McNeal were Friday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Boecher Jr. of Chillicothe. Afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kerns of Marietta Pike.

Mr. and Mrs. William McNeal of Kingston and grandson Michael Adkins were Sunday evening guests of Mrs. Hazel McNeal.

Hayakawa has advanced from temporary to permanent president of troubled San Francisco State College with blessings from Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Hayakawa, a jaunty, soft-spoken language expert, left open the possibility that he might seek the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate next year.

Republican Reagan said of the 62-year-old campus leader: "He is an example throughout the country of the relatively small group that have stood firm" in college disorders.

Reagan and other state college trustees voted 16-2 Wednesday to name Hayakawa permanent San Francisco State president.

As acting president since last fall, Hayakawa called in hundreds of police to keep the campus open through four months of violence, bombings, charges of police brutality and student vandalism.

He promised Wednesday to work "quietly" to improve the campus, relatively peaceful since strikes by students and faculty ended earlier this year.

Hayakawa's critics have called him a poseur and seeker of political office.

4 More Ohioans Die In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three more Ohioans have been killed in recent action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Wednesday.

They were Army Spec. 4 William F. Rigdon of Manchester, Army Pfc. Richard W. Felt of Maumee and Marine Lance Cpl. Timothy W. Hansley of Rockbridge.

Army Spec. 4 Courtney J. Cosgrove of Van Wert was listed as having died not as a result of hostile action.

Westfall School District Offers Summer Program

By DAVE AMEY

With "pop" music piped from a Columbus radio station playing in the hallways, a regular physical education program everyday, a 15-minute cookie and milk break, and much more individual attention, summer school can't be all bad.

These are the thoughts-put-to-action by Richard Everman, coordinator for the Westfall School District's summer school program in its third year at Westfall High School.

In presenting the program to the Westfall School District,

Everman said that "we have found that regardless of the materials or methods, children who have individual attention from a teacher will gain new confidences and learn much more rapidly than before."

As a result, for every teacher in the program, an average of four students are enrolled. There are about 160 students and 33 teachers.

STUDENTS are selected to attend the sessions on the basis of tests administered by teachers in the regular school sessions, according to Everman. The total program, as operated by Everman, consists of three basic parts, all leading to the improvement of the basic skill of students who have experienced difficulties in certain areas.

A mathematics and reading program has been established for students in grades 1-8, set-up to help develop and improve comprehension, understanding and skills in these areas.

For high school students, the Westfall school district has established a tutorial program in English, mathematics and Social Studies. The classes are also open to drop-outs.

Students successfully completing these courses will receive credit for them, Everman said.

For students, or anyone interested, the school district has offered night courses in drafting and blue-print reading. Object of the classes is to allow for further education and to give the students a direct road to the labor market upon graduation.

AND while the programs benefit Westfall students, they do not cost the Westfall taxpayer additional funds.

The program, as set up, is funded by the federal government under Title 1 of the Elementary and Secondary Educational Act of 1965.

The friendly atmosphere of teaching in the program is not lost to the students either. Teachers are provided with a ball in physical education, shoot basketball, and work out on the trampoline. In academic areas, a teacher will huddle with four students at a desk to discuss a problem.

One of the main goals of such a program is to have the atmosphere carry-over into the regular school program in the fall.

Big Rat Kill In New Jersey

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Hundreds of rats were driven from Military Park downtown by police armed with shotguns. Police said 23 rats were killed.

Observers said the rats apparently had been driven from an underground parking garage by recent rains and found a readily available food supply in the bread crumbs left to feed pigeons.

Police said they were selective in choosing targets for fear that shotgun pellets would bounce off sidewalks and injure onlookers. They said the rats ran into bushes and disappeared when the shooting started.

Pageant To Open

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — The 1969 Miss Ohio Pageant opens in the Cedar Point ballroom tonight with 29 young lovelies competing for the title.

Hayakawa Permanent SF President

LOS ANGELES (AP) — S.I. Hayakawa has advanced from temporary to permanent president of troubled San Francisco State College with blessings from Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Hayakawa, a jaunty, soft-voiced language expert, left open the possibility that he might seek the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate next year.

Republican Reagan said of the 62-year-old campus leader: "He is an example throughout the country of the relatively small group that have stood firm" in college disorders.

Reagan and other state college trustees voted 16-2 Wednesday to name Hayakawa permanent San Francisco State president.

As acting president since last fall, Hayakawa called in hundreds of police to keep the campus open through four months of violence, bombings, charges of police brutality and student vandalism.

He promised Wednesday to work "quietly" to improve the campus, relatively peaceful since strikes by students and faculty ended earlier this year. Hayakawa's critics have called him a poseur and seeker of political office.

This three family affair is a joy to watch. Everyone shares in the work and has great pride in achievement. The children especially are having great fun.

There isn't a weed to be seen in this vegetable patch of 1/2 acre. They have planted sweet corn, potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage peppers, sweet potatoes, cucumbers, beans, radishes, beets, and onions.

I HAVE been watching this energetic family working this summer and it is a pleasure to report their progress. They have spent many hours working in their garden even though the boys are little leaguers they find time to help.

It is nice to see a family training their youngsters this way and teaching them the joy and pleasure of responsibility and hard work.

Not only are they having a good time growing and cultivating their vegetables but with great relish told me how they are looking forward to harvest time.

They plan to make catsup, pickles and sauerkraut. The remainder of the bounty will be frozen. I promised to share my recipe of tomato juice with them so they may tackle that also.

Adm. Rickover Gets Service Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, 68, has received an extension to January, 1972, of his terms of office in the Navy's nuclear propulsion program.

The Navy announced Tuesday that Rickover, whose terms were to have expired next January, would continue for a further two years as director of the Division of Naval Reactors of the Atomic Energy Commission and deputy commander for nuclear propulsion of the Naval Ship Systems command.

FAMILY ENTERPRISE — Dwight Pearce, 8 years old; Brad Allison, 10; Greg Pearce, 9; Brian Allison, 7; Paul Allison; Melissa Allison, 9 are busy tending their truck patch, a three family effort, which is located on the Kingston Pike.

Timely Tips

Cultivate wisely. Many plants are shallow rooted and many new gardeners unwittingly set the plants back with their enthusiasm for cultivating. They cut off some of the roots. Yews especially, rhododendrons, azaleas, many vegetables, and most annuals have net works of roots just under the soil's surface.

Turnips may be planted at any time within the first two weeks of July. They are good vegetables to follow early crops.

Early July is not too late to sow six-week beans to give a supply of string beans for Fall use.

Prune pink or blue Hydrangeas as soon as the flowers pass. They will bloom on wood formed this summer. White hydrangeas bloom on new wood. Do not cut them until early Spring.

Shade greenhouse type mums. Water as needed and keep old flowers cut off in garden.

New, thin barked trees such as birches, red maples, pin oaks, in the open sun should retain their trunk wrappings for another year to prevent sunscald or bark scorch.

Youth Fatally Stabbed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ronnie Lewis, 19, Cleveland, was fatally stabbed Tuesday night in what police said followed an argument over a girl friend with another man.

Astromonk Trip Said Big Success

HONOLULU (AP) — Scientists say astromonk Bonny's doomed space voyage was a huge technical success.

Although the planned 30-day mission was aborted three weeks early and the space monkey died, the Biosatellite 3 flight was termed near-perfect from launch to splashdown.

"We learned more biomedical data on this animal in three days than we did in all of America's manned space flights," Dr. Charles Wilson, project manager, told newsmen Tuesday. Biosatellite 3 was launched June 28 from Cape Kennedy, Fla., to show man the effects of prolonged weightlessness.

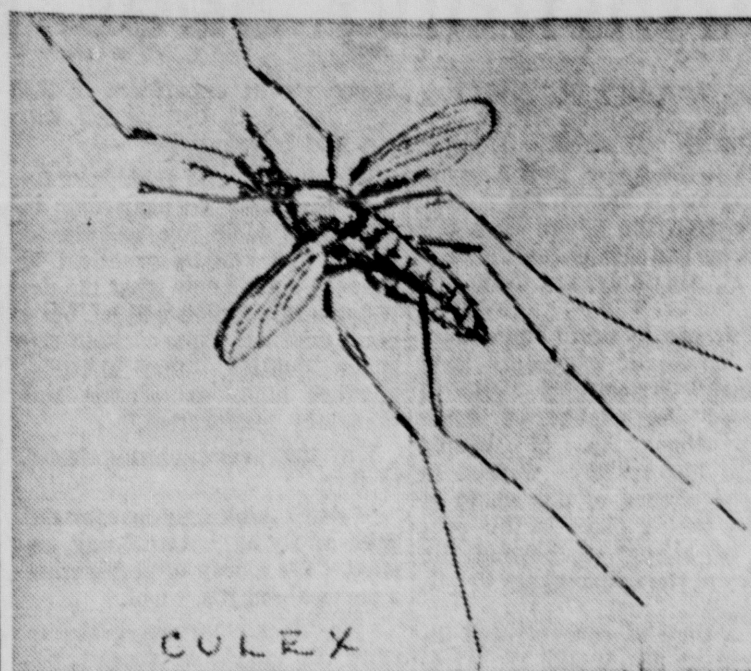

The 14-pound pigtail primate died at 12:04 a.m. Tuesday in a mobile laboratory at Hickam Air Force Base after a parachute landing in the Pacific Ocean.

An autopsy on the monkey began Tuesday at Hickam, but spokesmen for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it may be weeks before the exact cause of death was known.

Plan 'New Town' In Hamilton County

LOVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Plans for a $100 million community here which will be a 'new town' within an old town were disclosed Tuesday.

The 344-acre tract will be known as the Glen Lake community and it is in the Hamilton county area of Loveland.

Ruth Montelius — Garden Editor — 474-3937

My remark about Mimosa trees last week brought a rash of calls about them. I guess everybody that has one has had bloom this year. Mrs. Grover Dumm, 575 East Franklin has one blooming that she started from seed. The Emmitt W. Eccards have a lovely one in their back yard. Mrs. Robert Bower, Reber Ave., says the ones they transplanted to the lot beside them are putting on a show.

The Monrovia Garden Club has been working hard at the fairgrounds, mulching and cleaning up, to have everything in order for the flower show at the fair. Remember the Fair starts Monday July 28. If you want a Flower Show schedule send a self addressed envelope to Mrs. Charles A. Fleming, Flower Show Chairman, Route 1, Box 233, Mt. Sterling, Ohio 43143.

The 22 Annual International Show of the North American Lily Society is to be held July 11, 12, 13 at the Garden Center of Greater Cleveland, 11030 East Boulevard, Cleveland, Ohio 44106. There will be lilies shown by amateurs and professionals from all over the U.S. and Canada as specimens and in artistic arrangements. There will be displays of the latest hybrids by the commercial growers. There will be two tours of gardens: Saturday's tour will see Cleveland's cultural gardens and three private gardens; and Sunday's tour will travel to Elyria for a garden of lilies and then to Mansfield to the famous Kingwood Center.

Mrs. Donald Watt says she always carries a notebook with her on tours of gardens. The latest memo she made was of the Three-colored Copper Beech (Fagus - Sylvatica - Tricolor), Achillea, Moonshine, and the Hosta, Sieboldiana. These she noticed in a garden in Cincinnati.

Last year at the Pickaway County Fair Flower Show there was a new class. It was for pictures made of dried or preserved plant material, which included seed pictures, plaques.

Nature Notes Of Yesteryear

By the late W. M. REID
EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was written for the Circleville Herald, July 9, 1937 when the residents of Circleville were being harassed by mosquitoes.

One day a pupil who was a constant joker came into the school room with a sober face and said, "Mr. Reid, I don't like Amos."

"A mosquito," was his answer.

Just now with the plague of these pests over the city we don't like them either. The numbers that infest the city can in no way be laid to the neglect of the residents, but are the result of the flood in the Scioto Valley.

All along the river in the vicinity of the city were left pools of stagnant water in which the eggs of the mosquito were laid and hatched by the millions, the wind carrying them over the city where they alight among the plants and shrubbery and pounce on us when we venture into their presence.

There are 400 species of mosquitos in North America, some frequenting the salt water areas and others fresh water. The species now infesting the city, and the most common inland, is the culex. It lays its eggs in stagnant pools where they hatch in from one to 10 days depending on the temperature.

These eggs are in bunches numbering 50 to 100 and float on the surface till they hatch into wigglers. The wigglers at first are so small they can hardly be seen, but they grow rapidly, shedding the skin three or four times in the process.

They, like all insects, do not breathe through the mouth, but through the thorax, the mosquito having a tube ending at the tail which is thrust through the surface of the water to take in air. Their food consists of organisms in the water, therefore the fouler the water, the more mosquitoes it will produce. These wigglers, or larvae, feed for three or four days, then pupate or remain quiescent for one to four days, when they emerge into the full grown insect and begin to annoy all animal life.

The culex is not known to carry any disease as do some other species. In the early days of the county and up to 40 or 50 years ago, malaria was prevalent. This disease was communicated by the anopheles mosquito that inhabited the permanent swamps and bogs. When these were drained, the disease disappeared. A few of this species are still to be seen. They can be identified by the spotted wings and habit of resting with body at right angles to the surface. The culex rests parallel to the surface. The anopheles has but one generation in the summer while the culex has eight to twelve generations.

The yellow fever species, the aedes, does not come this far north. Memphis being in the past the northern limit.

According to findings of entomologists, the eggs of the mosquito will not hatch unless the female can get animal blood. So birds, rabbits, farm animals and humanity are pestered day and night to furnish life for these miserable insects.

The female only can bite and does not buzz to call attention to where she intends to bite. The male buzzes but does not bite. He gets his food from the sap of plants that may be broken by movement of animals.

The process of biting is done very quickly. The mosquito is provided with a needle-like proboscis, supplemented by two saw-like appendages on either side. When the skin is punctured the saws are put into operation to enlarge the wound and an acid is injected into the blood in order to thin it sufficiently to be drawn up the microscopic tube.

The acid is the cause of the intense itching. It is said that if the mosquito is left alone to fill up on blood it will draw this acid out with the blood. But who wants to wait that long to strike?

Mosquitoes seldom fly more than 100 yards from the breeding place but may be carried miles by a high wind. In 1918 after a summer freshet in the Scioto, a high wind blowing from across the river brought so many mosquitoes that houses on the windward side were plastered by dead mosquitoes.

Oil spread on the ponds and bayous will prevent hatching of the larvae. Had authorities taken this step in time and applied oil, the invasion could have been prevented. Only once has this been in my recollection, and that was several years ago by L. E. Miller, former service director.

An autopsy on the monkey began Tuesday at Hickam, but spokesmen for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it may be weeks before the exact cause of death was known.

Pian 'New Town' In Hamilton County
LOVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Plans for a $100 million community here which will be a 'new town within an old town' were disclosed Tuesday.

The 344-acre tract will be known as the Glen Lake community and it is in the Hamilton county area of Loveland.

Ruth Montelius — Garden Editor — 474-3937

My remark about Mimosa trees last week brought a rash of calls about them. I guess everybody that has one has had bloom this year. Mrs. Grover Dumm, 575 East Franklin has one blooming that she started from seed. The Emmitt W. Eccards have a lovely one in their back yard. Mrs. Robert Bower, Reber Ave., says the ones they transplanted to the lot beside them are putting on a show.

The Monrovia Garden Club has been working hard at the fairgrounds, mulching and cleaning up, to have everything in order for the flower show at the fair. Remember the Fair starts Monday July 28. If you want a Flower Show schedule send a self addressed envelope to Mrs. Charles A. Fleming, Flower Show Chairman, Route 1, Box 233, Mt. Sterling, Ohio 43143.

The 22 Annual International Show of the North American Lily Society is to be held July 11, 12, 13 at the Garden Center of Greater Cleveland, 11030 East Boulevard, Cleveland, Ohio 44106. There will be lilies shown by amateurs and professionals from all over the U.S. and Canada as specimens and in artistic arrangements. There will be displays of the latest hybrids by the commercial growers. There will be two tours of gardens: Saturday's tour will see Cleveland's cultural gardens and three private gardens; and Sunday's tour will travel to Elyria for a garden of lilies and then to Mansfield to the famous Kingwood Center.

Mrs. Donald Watt says she always carries a notebook with her on tours of gardens. The latest memo she made was of the Three-colored Copper Beech (Fagus - Sylvatica - Tricolor), Achillea, Moonshine, and the Hosta, Sieboldiana. These she noticed in a garden in Cincinnati.

Last year at the Pickaway County Fair Flower Show there was a new class. It was for pictures made of dried or preserved plant material, which included seed pictures, plaques.

The plan, which would eliminate all cigarette commercials from the nation's television stations would be phased out over a four-year period under a surprise recommendation by the TV Code Review Board of the National Association of Broadcasters.

The phase-out would apply specifically to the three national networks and 64.4 per cent of the nation's 623 commercial stations which subscribe to the NAB television code.

In other action, the review board moved to prohibit cigarette commercials in or adjacent to any program directed primarily at young audiences.

The Mosquito

Nature Notes Of Yesteryear

By the late W. M. REID
EDITOR'S NOTE: This article was written for the Circleville Herald, July 9, 1937 when the residents of Circleville were being harassed by mosquitoes.

One day a pupil who was a constant joker came into the school room with a sober face and said, "Mr. Reid, I don't like Amos."

His teacher bit, as usual, and inquired "Amos who?"

"A mosquito," was his answer.

Just now with the plague of these pests over the city we don't like them either. The numbers that infest the city in no way be laid to the neglect of the residents, but are the result of the flood in the Scioto Valley.

All along the river in the vicinity of the city were left pools of stagnant water in which the eggs of the mosquito were laid and hatched by the millions, the wind carrying them over the city where they alight among the plants and shrubbery and pounce on us when we venture into their presence.

There are 400 species of mosquitos in North America, some frequenting the salt water areas and others fresh water. The species now infesting the city, and the most common inland, is the culex. It lays its eggs in stagnant pools where they hatch in from one to 10 days depending on the temperature.

These eggs are in bunches numbering 50 to 100 and float on the surface till they hatch into wigglers. The wigglers at first are so small they can hardly be seen, but they grow rapidly, shedding the skin three or four times in the process.

They, like all insects, do not breathe through the mouth, but through the thorax, the mosquito having a tube ending at the tail which is thrust through the surface of the water to take in air. Their food consists of organisms in the water, the more mosquitoes it will produce. These wigglers, or larvae, feed for three or four days, then pupate or remain quiescent for one to four days, when they emerge into the full grown insect and begin to annoy all animal life.

The culex is not known to carry any disease as do some other species. In the early days of the county and up to 40 or 50 years ago, malaria was prevalent. This disease was communicated by the anopheles mosquito that inhabited the permanent swamps and bogs. When these were drained, the disease disappeared. A few of this species are still to be seen. They can be identified by the spotted wings and habit of resting with body at right angles to the surface. The culex rests parallel to the surface. The anopheles has but one generation in the summer while the culex has eight to twelve generations.

The yellow fever species, the aedes, does not come this far north. Memphis being in the past the northern limit.

According to findings of entomologists, the eggs of the mosquito will not hatch unless the female can get animal blood. So birds, rabbits, farm animals and humanity are pestered day and night to furnish life for these miserable insects.

The female only can bite and does not buzz to call attention to where she intends to bite. The male buzzes but does not bite. He gets his food from the sap of plants that may be broken by movement of animals.

The process of biting is done very quickly. The mosquito is provided with a needle-like proboscis, supplemented by two saw-like appendages on either side. When the skin is punctured the saws are put into operation to enlarge the wound and an acid is injected into the blood in order to thin it sufficiently to be drawn up the microscopic tube.

The acid is the cause of the intense itching. It is said that if the mosquito is left alone to fill up on blood it will draw this acid out with the blood. But who wants to wait that long to strike?

Mosquitoes seldom fly more than 100 yards from the breeding place but may be carried miles by a high wind. In 1918 after a summer freshet in the Scioto, a high wind blowing from across the river brought so many mosquitoes that houses on the windward side were plastered by dead mosquitoes.

Oil spread on the ponds and bayous will prevent hatching of the larvae. Had authorities taken this step in time and applied oil, the invasion could have been prevented. Only once has this been in my recollection, and that was several years ago by L. E. Miller, former service director.

Armstrong Sees Bigger Flights In Future

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — As a boy, Neil A. Armstrong had a dream. He wanted to land on the moon. In a few days he and Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to do just that.

"For me to fulfill the dream is a stroke of incredibly good fortune," Armstrong said. "I suppose the chance of doing what thousands of people thought history have wanted to do, the chance of this chain of events taking place in this section of history is beyond the ability of the oddsmakers to calculate."

At a time of concentrated involvement in Apollo 11, Armstrong is nevertheless looking ahead, to the next giant step. In his desire to fly, to continue questing eternal mysteries, he wants to rocket again into space.

"With the first lunar landing, I don't agree that we've reached the peak," he said in an interview. "I think it is just a beginning. I really suspect that the flights of the next decade will be even more interesting, more enlivening than the ones of the past."

"The objective of our flight is to take men to the moon, make a landing and return safely to earth," he said. "It will demonstrate to mankind that we can do that kind of a job. How well we'll use what we learn in the future, only history will tell."

Based on the experience of the last decade, I believe we will use that knowledge."

"Even now," he said, "our future direction is beginning to emerge. People are looking at things that can be practical in space. I don't know what the decision of the nation will be, but I can envision space stations, space shuttles, lunar shuttles, advance lunar exploration and planetary exploration."

Why this overwhelming desire to fly?

"I don't think I fly just for the sake of flying," Armstrong replied. "It's a way of performing a service and it's a tool."

"Why does a carpenter like to saw? Oh, maybe he doesn't, but he's fortunate if he does. He doesn't really consider his job as sawing. He considers his job as building."

"I like to consider our job as building—building a transportation system, building the state of man's knowledge, building man's inclination to learn more. That airplane and that spacecraft are my saw."

Armstrong also knows there are dangers in his business.

"Everything conceivable has been done to assure our safety on Apollo 11," he said. "We have high confidence in our systems. Otherwise we would not go."

"But we must realize things can go wrong."

"On any flight, those things that are new are the most dangerous. In our case it will be the descent to the surface, the landing, the lunar surface activity and the liftoff from the moon."

Armstrong does not compare Apollo 11 with history's great explorations and voyages like those of Columbus, Magellan, Lindbergh and Byrd.

Mac's, CAP Win Mosquito Tilts; Mac's Tied For Lead

Mac's Goodyear took Block's shoes for their fourth win and a share of the lead in the Mosquito League Wednesday night, 14-10, while Circle Auto Parts trampled Hummel and Plum, 21-4.

Mac's and PPG both have perfect records in the league with four wins. The co-leaders tangle under the lights Friday night at Ted Lewis Park. Block's is in second place with three wins and one loss.

Block's broke the ice in the first inning with one run but then was attacked by Mac's in the second when they rallied for nine markers. The shoemakers came back with three markers in the bottom of the second, gave up one to Mac's in the top of the third, then scored six to tie the score at the end of three.

They again took the lead with one marker in the bottom of the fourth but were unable to hold Mac's as they rallied for four in the top of the fifth. Mac's scored their 14 runs on seven hits and two errors while Block's hit six, scored ten and had three errors.

Mark Skinner went the route for Mac's walking 17, fanning 11, and giving up six hits.

Challenge Run Set Thursday At Scioto

Twenty four of the nation's finest 2 year-old pacers will go the post tonight at Scioto Downs in the $20,000 Challenge Stakes.

With the huge entry, Director of Racing John Phillips, split the race into two divisions with each division going for $10,000.00.

The second division appears to be the toughest of the two, which pits the undefeated Aksel Hanover from the Gene Riegle Stable, and the undefeated Banner Ranger, trained and driven by Joe Marsh, Jr.

The nation's leading money and race winning driver, Billy Houghton, makes his initial 1969 start in the second division with the powerful Dangerous Wave, and Bruce Nickells comes back to Scioto to start in the second division with Good Nite Jim. Tom Brinkerhoff will take two-time winner, Ella Darling, postward for Dr. Robert Johns of Wooster, Ohio; and Al Young will have Can Tar Chief for the Can Tar Stables of Roanoke, Virginia.

In the first division, Jim Hackett drew the pole position with the speedy Magnum Hanover; Gene Riegle has Fighter Wave; Joe Marsh has Time Honored. Bruce Nickells has Dusty's Colt in the first division; and Ted Taylor, the London, Ohio reinsman returns to Scioto with Peachaway for owners Ernest and Melburn Furman of Lima, O.

Aksel Hanover complete with his eight owners is undefeated in four starts this year. The son of Tar Heel paced in 2:02 at Scioto, then went to Pocono Downs where he won the Pennsylvania Sires Stakes in 2:02 4-5 on June 28.

Banner Ranger, a huge bay son of Ranger Hanover, set the national season record for 2 year-old pacers at Scioto on June 4 with a mile in 2:03 4-5. After being sold, the speedy colt was moved to the Joe Marsh, Jr. barn at Sportsman's Park in Chicago, and promptly won in 2:03 2-5. He is undefeated in seven starts this year, and his last victory was by a convincing ten lengths.

Billy Houghton, harness racing's biggest money and race winner, started the year with his 3000th victory at Pompano Park this spring, and during 20 years of competition, the New York reinsman has amassed over $14 million dollars in earnings.

Report Cleveland Indians May Sell

CLEVELAND (AP) — Vernon Stouffer, the Cleveland Indians' principal owner, is in a tight money situation and is getting offers for purchase of the club from Dallas, Milwaukee and Buffalo, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today.

Hal Lebovitz, Plain Dealer sports editor, said in a column that Dallas multimillionaire Lamar Hunt is prepared to buy the Indians at a figure which would give Stouffer a huge profit.

Hunt could not be reached immediately for comment.

When Braulio Baeza won the 1969 Belmont Stakes with Arts and Letters it marked his third victory in the mile and a half race. He won with Sherluck in 1961 and with Chateaugay in 1963.

Swim Team Wins Meet

The Circleville Swim Team won their eighth straight swim meet Wednesday, when they traveled to Groveport to defeat the Groveport Swim Club by a 27 3/4 to 14 1/4 score.

The Piranha's won 35 out of 50 events in the meet, including 12 out of 16 relays and 23 out of 34 individual events.

Top individual winners with two wins each were Nancy Guenther, Mike Sparks, Sue Spalding, Craig Dresbach and Brenna Lintner.

Twelve other Circleville swimmers also had first place individual wins. They are Kathy Penn, Jimmie Walker, Steve Penn, Jill Hoffman, Carla G. Arner, Marcy Hutchison, Teresa Stitt, Aunda Lintner, Mark Beck, Cindy Hughes, Janet Helwagen and Alan Krieger.

Saturday, 20 members of the Circleville Swim Team will take part in the Gahanna Invitational.

Sunday, the boys 12 and under medley relay team consisting of Steve Penn, Mike Lawter, Mike Sparks and Dave Resler will travel to Dayton to take part in the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Invitational.

Next Monday and Tuesday, 25 of the teams top swimmers will participate in the two-day Lancaster Invitational, and next Friday the same group will be in Delaware for the Delaware Invitational.

Thursday, July 17, the local swim club will travel to Lancaster for a Mount Pleasant League Meet with the Lancaster Country Club, the 1968 league champions, and the team tied with Circleville for first place this year.

Artz Leads Ohio Amateur

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Young Gary Artz overcame a pair of miscues Wednesday and stormed into the second round lead in the 63rd annual Ohio Amateur Golf Tournament.

The 22-year-old Ohio State University senior from Akron nullified back-to-back bogeys with an eagle-birdie punch to give him a three-under-par 69 and a two-stroke lead at the halfway point.

"What helped me most was when I chipped in from 50 feet for an eagle on the long par-five 16th hole," said Artz.

Artz canned the eagle and followed up with a bird on the 17th after bogeys on the 14th and 15th dropped him back to even par.

His 69, matched with a 72 Thursday, gave him a 141 total to pace a field of 67 survivors into today's third round.

Curtis Defeats Ernest In Welsh Tennis

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEWPORT, Wales (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ann Curtis of St. Louis defeated Eileen Ernest, Cardiff, 6-2, 6-0 in the third round of the Welsh tennis championships Wednesday. Bobby Wilson, Britain, beat George Taylor of Houston 6-2, 6-3 in the third round of the men's singles.

must have after winning last November: "It's about time."

"I've known him since 1950 and I've been a Nixon man all the time," Williams insisted after his Washington Senators blanked Cleveland 3-0 with the President in attendance. But Nixon's three previous trips to the ballpark this season meant nothing but grief—and losses—for the Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City nipped Minnesota 4-3, the Chicago White Sox tripped Oakland 5-3, Baltimore edged the New York Yankees 6-5 in 10 innings, Detroit took Boston 6-5 and Seattle walloped California 8-0, then lost 5-0.

The Senators, who had beaten Cleveland 10 of 12 without Nixon's help, took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Mike Epstein's blood double. The President arrived an inning later with daughter Tricia and son-in-law David Eisenhower, just in time to see Del Unser single for one run and Frank Howard do the same for another.

Joe Coleman breezed with a four-hitter, struck out 11 and gave the President the final ball of the game when he stopped by the Washington clubhouse. Nixon wouldn't take it, though, until Coleman autographed it.

"He really shows me something by coming out," Coleman said. "It gives you a big boost when you know he's in the stands. I hope he keeps coming out, especially when I pitch."

Ed Doherty, a Senators official, reported the President kept watching the scoreboard during the game, hoping Baltimore would lose so Washington could up ground.

"He was overjoyed when Dave McNally was knocked out," Doherty said. "And he kept rooting for Howard to hit a home run. Everytime Howard came up, he jumped up and shouted, 'Hondo, Hondo, hit one.'"

Hondo didn't, but Pete Ward did, a three-run pinch hit shot in the eighth inning that powered the White Sox past Oakland and prevented the Athletics from gaining on Minnesota in the AL West.

Ward connected on the first pitch thrown by reliever George Lauzerique after a walk and a single against Paul Lindblad set things up.

Lou Piniella, a season-long pest to Minnesota, drove home the tying run with a fifth-inning single and the winner with a grounder in the seventh as Kansas City snapped the Twins' five-game winning streak and kept them 3 1/2 games ahead of Oakland.

The Twins built a 3-0 lead with single runs in the first three innings, including Harmon Killebrew's 24th homer. But Joe Foy's two-run homer started the Royals back in the fifth and Piniella singled to score Mike Fiore, who had doubled.

"I don't like to fill out those reports anyway," said KC skipper Joe Gordon, canceling a plan to protest the game after Ellie Rodriguez was ruled out for interfering with catcher John Roseboro early in the game.

The Yankees kayoed unbeaten Dave McNally, 12-0 for the second time in nine days but still lost when Boog Powell singled and scored all the way from first base when Bobby Murcer booted Brooks Robinson's double. It was the seventh time the Orioles rallied after McNally left a game on the short end of the score and took him off the hook.

"When McNally went out, I knew that would be another one we could chalk up in the victory column," said Frank Robinson, who hit a two-run homer. Powell also homered for Baltimore.

Tom Matchick drove in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a single but Detroit needed Don Wert's sacrifice fly and Reggie Smith's throwing error in the fifth to edge Boston and move back into second place in the AL East, 12 games behind Baltimore.

Seattle's Fred Talbot hurled a three-hitter and socked a grand slam homer in the Pilots' opening game triumph, but California came back to win the nightcap as George Brunet pitched a seven-hitter, Sandy Alomar had three hits and Bill Voss collected a single and double and threw two runners out on the bases.

must have after winning last November: "It's about time."

"I've known him since 1950 and I've been a Nixon man all the time," Williams insisted after his Washington Senators blanked Cleveland 3-0 with the President in attendance. But Nixon's three previous trips to the ballpark this season meant nothing but grief—and losses—for the Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City nipped Minnesota 4-3, the Chicago White Sox tripped Oakland 5-3, Baltimore edged the New York Yankees 6-5 in 10 innings, Detroit took Boston 6-5 and Seattle walloped California 8-0, then lost 5-0.

The Senators, who had beaten Cleveland 10 of 12 without Nixon's help, took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Mike Epstein's bloop double. The President arrived an inning later with daughter Tricia and son-in-law David Eisenhower, just in time to see Del Unser single for one run and Frank Howard do the same for another.

Joe Coleman breezed with a four-hitter, struck out 11 and gave the President the final ball of the game when he stopped by the Washington clubhouse. Nixon wouldn't take it, though, until Coleman autographed it.

"He really shows me something by coming out," Coleman said. "It gives you a big boost when you know he's in the stands. I hope he keeps coming out, especially when I pitch."

Ed Doherty, a Senators official, reported the President kept watching the scoreboard during the game, hoping Baltimore would lose so Washington could win ground.

"He was overjoyed when Dave McNally was knocked out," Doherty said. "And he kept rooting for Howard to hit a home run. Everytime Howard came up, he jumped up and shouted, 'Hondo, Hondo, hit one.'"

Hondo didn't, but Pete Ward did, a three-run pinch hit shot in the eighth inning that powered the White Sox past Oakland and prevented the Athletics from gaining on Minnesota in the AL West.

Ward connected on the first pitch thrown by reliever George Lauzerique after a walk and a single against Paul Lindblad set things up.

Lou Piniella, a season-long pest to Minnesota, drove home the tying run with a fifth-inning single and the winner with a grounder in the seventh as Kansas City snapped the Twins' five-game winning streak and kept them 3½ games ahead of Oakland.

The Twins built a 3-0 lead with single runs in the first three innings, including Harmon Killebrew's 24th homer. But Joe Foy's two-run homer started the Royals back in the fifth and Piniella singled to score Mike Flora, who had doubled.

"I don't like to fill out those reports anyway," said KC skipper Joe Gordon, canceling a plan to protest the game after Ellie Rodriguez was ruled out for interfering with catcher John Roseboro early in the game.

The Yankees kayoed unbeaten Dave McNally, 12-0 for the second time in nine days but still lost when Boog Powell singled and scored all the way from first base when Bobby Murcer booted Brooks Robinson's double. It was the seventh time the Orioles rallied after McNally left a game on the short end of the score and took him off the hook.

"When McNally went out, I knew that would be another one we could chalk up in the victory column," said Frank Robinson, who hit a two-run homer. Powell also homered for Baltimore.

Tom Matchick drove in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a single but Detroit needed Don Wert's sacrifice fly and Reggie Smith's throwing error in the fifth to edge Boston and move back into second place in the AL East, 12 games behind Baltimore.

Seattle's Fred Talbot hurled a three-hitter and socked a grand slam homer in the Pilots' opening game triumph, but California came back to win the nightcap as George Brunet pitched a seven-hitter, Sandy Alomar had three hits and Bill Voss collected a single and double and threw two runners out on the bases.

High-Flying Mets Top Cubs, 4-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Their dizzying dash towards the more respectable neighborhood in the National League standings has turned everything topsy-turvy for the prosperous New York Mets.

Tom Seaver pitched a one-hitter, beating Chicago 4-0 for the Mets' seventh straight victory Wednesday night. It trimmed the Cubs' lead over New York to three games in the East Division race. It should have been a source of great joy. It was, believe it or not, a source of great disappointment.

That's because Seaver flirted with immortality by retiring 25 consecutive Cubs before rookie

Jimmy Qualls ended his perfect game bid with a one-out single in the ninth inning.

That single by the No. 8 hitter in the Cubs' line-up deprived Seaver of his line in the record book but it couldn't keep New York from continuing its tear towards the top. Yet, it added the touch of aggravation that always seems to follow the Mets.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh nipped Montreal twice 4-3 in 10 innings and 3-2, Philadelphia split with St. Louis, winning 7-1 before losing 5-3, San Francisco bombed Houston 10-3, Cincinnati edged San Diego 4-3 and Los Angeles dropped Atlanta 3-1.

Seaver drove in a run with a second-inning single as the Mets jumped on Ken Holtzman, knocking out the Cub left-hander and taking a 3-0 lead in the first two innings.

Then Seaver became a one-man show, retiring the Cubs 1-2-3 in every inning. He struck out five of the first six batters he faced and fanned 11 for the game.

Randy Hundley hunted Seaver's first pitch in the ninth inning and the pitcher threw him out for the 25th Cub to go down in order. Ten Qualls rapped the next pitch for the hit. Seaver then retired the next two hitters easily to end the game.

He termed the one-hitter "a disappointment" but around the Mets, that word is commonplace. If every disappointment was a one-hitter, they'd never complain.

Pittsburgh swept the Expos, winning the first game on Richie Hebner's leadoff triple in the 10th inning and a one-out single by Jose Martinez and then taking the second one on an eight-inning pinch double by Willie Stargell.

Matty Alou, who had six hits in the doubleheader, opened the seventh inning of the nightcap with a single and came around to score Pittsburgh's tying run on a sacrifice, a wild pitch and an error. Then Fred Patek beat out an infield single with two out in the eighth and Stargell doubled him home.

Woodie Fryman pitched a seven-hitter and Johnny Briggs tagged a two-run first-inning homer that carried the Phillies past St. Louis in the first game of their doubleheader.

Home runs by Joe Torre, Vada Pinson and Lou Brock earned the solit for the Cardinals, with Brock's two-run shot in the ninth erasing a 3-2 Phillie lead.

The Giants, held to one hit for seven innings by Danny Lemaster, exulted for four runs in the seventh and then got a bases-loaded homer by Bob Burda and a solo shot by Dick Dietz in the eighth to whack Houston. Tommy Helms cracked a single, two doubles and a triple, leading Cincinnati past San Diego. Airtight relief by Pedro Ramos and Wayne Granger in the late innings saved the victory for Jim Merritt.

Bill Singer pitched a four-hitter and Los Angeles tightened its grip on first place in the West Division by knocking off Atlanta. Manny Mota, who went 8-for-10 in Tuesday's doubleheader sweep against the Braves, added three more hits Wednesday.

Majestic Destiny Wins Scioto Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majestic Destiny withstood an inquiry and won the featured $1,600 conditioned pace at Scioto Downs Wednesday night.

Far back in the pack at the head of the stretch, Majestic Destiny wove through Traffic Trot Dolly Widow at the wire, Kathy Averill lodged a complaint, later overruled, that there had been interference.

The winner, owned by John A. Frantz of Sidney, toured the mile in 2:03 1-5 and paid $4.60, $4 and $2.60.

The 5-5 daily double combination of Joseadale Firefly and Sinsing Penny paid $20.40. The 1-7 quinella brought $3.10. The 4,336 fans bet $187,800.

College Grid Stars Prepare For Battle

CHICAGO (AP) — A squad of more than forty college football stars assembled in Evanston Wednesday to prepare for their Aug. 1 battle against the world champion New York Jets in the 36th annual College All-Star Football Game.

Coach Otto Graham and his six assistants say this year's team is a great one, especially in the front line, six of whose members were picked in the first round of the pro draft.

Morrall May Join Namath As Retired Football Player

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Not one, but two key quarterbacks from last year's Super Bowl might be missing when the pro football season opens.

Joe Namath, the reluctant quarterback of the New York Jets, announced his retirement a month ago. On Wednesday, Namath's Super Bowl opponent, Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts, indicated he might retire, too.

Morrall was named vice president for operations of Trans National Communications Inc., which owns the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League, among other enterprises.

He told a San Francisco news conference he would fly to Detroit to set up his TNC office and then discuss his possible retirement with the Colts in Baltimore this weekend. The Colts open training camp on Sunday. "My communications with them will be the deciding factor," said the National Football League's 1968 Player of the

Year. "At this point, I'm right in the middle."

So is Namath, but for a different reason.

The flamboyant Jet star said in Corona, Calif., where he's making a movie, that he's sticking to his decision not to obey Commissioner Pete Rozelle's order to get rid of his part interest in a Manhattan restaurant allegedly frequented by gamblers.

Namath said he has no plans to report to the Jets training camp which opens this weekend on Long Island, as much as he'd like to.

"I would change my mind if someone would say where I was wrong," he said. "If I have been wrong, I won't want any part of the restaurant."

The Jets, meanwhile, said they have signed rookie quarterback Al Woodall, their No. 2 draft choice and Namath's possible successor. In addition, split end George Sauer, one of three Jets who said they wouldn't play without Namath, indicated he's changed his mind but wouldn't say why.

Morrall May Join Namath As Retired Football Player

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Not one, but both key quarterbacks from last year's Super Bowl might be missing when the pro football season opens.

Joe Namath, the reluctant quarterback of the New York Jets, announced his retirement a month ago. On Wednesday, Namath's Super Bowl opponent, Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts, indicated he might retire, too.

Morrall was named vice president for operations of Trans National Communications Inc., which owns the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League, among other enterprises.

He told a San Francisco news conference he would fly to Detroit to set up his TNC office and then discuss his possible retirement with the Colts in Baltimore this weekend. The Colts open training camp on Sunday. "My communications with them will be the deciding factor," said the National Football League's 1968 Player of the Year.

Year. "At this point, I'm right in the middle."

So is Namath, but for a different reason. The flamboyant Jet star said in Corona, Calif., where he's making a movie, that he's sticking to his decision not to obey Commissioner Pete Rozelle's order to get rid of his part interest in a Manhattan restaurant allegedly frequented by gamblers.

Namath said he has no plans to report to the Jets training camp which opens this weekend on Long Island, as much as he'd like to.

"I would change my mind if someone would say where I was wrong," he said. "If I have been wrong, I won't want any part of the restaurant."

The Jets, meanwhile, said they have signed rookie quarterback Al Woodall, their No. 2 draft choice and Namath's possible successor. In addition, split end George Sauer, one of three Jets who said they wouldn't play without Namath, indicated he's changed his mind but wouldn't say why.

Senate Demos Like Troop Cuts In Europe; Want More

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders have quietly approved a call for a far greater cutback in U. S. troop strength in Europe than now planned by the White House.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield described as inadequate President Nixon's order to withdraw some 15,000 military men from overseas bases during the next year.

The White House did not disclose the specific areas involved, but the order announced Wednesday exempted Vietnam and other spots of trouble and tension.

"This is a step in the right direction, but it's only a drop in the bucket," Mansfield said in an interview.

Marine . . .

Spokesmen said the Marine regiment, unlike the composite Army battalion, is going to Okinawa as an intact unit. They said some of the Leathernecks have completed only two months of their Vietnam tours, whereas the 788 infantrymen who flew home three days ago all had completed a major portion of their tours and were pulled from several units.

No major sustained ground fighting was reported today but U.S. headquarters listed 29 overnight rocket and mortar attacks—double the total of the previous night. Twelve were termed significant in that they caused damage or casualties.

The command also reported North Vietnamese troops ambushed a U.S. Army convoy about 65 miles north of Saigon Wednesday, setting off sporadic fighting that lasted six hours. North Vietnamese casualties were reported as 22 killed, while four Americans were killed and 11 wounded.

Ohio Towns Still In Crisis

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A small town faced critical water pressure buildup today and most of another town's residents were still homeless in the aftermath of the July 4 storms that left at least 39 dead in northern Ohio.

Bellevue, an 8,000-population community on the Huron-Sandusky county line, was faced with pressure buildup in a network of streams under the town that serve as the community's sewage system.

In Central Holmes County, more than 1,000 remained homeless, including nearly all residents of tiny Killbuck. Red Cross disaster teams and National Guardsmen were in the area to help clean up.

The Holmes County Health Department urged all residents and volunteer workers in the area to receive free typhoid inoculation. No typhoid was reported, but Dr. A. J. Farney said there is danger of the disease whenever sewage systems are flooded.

A geologist in Bellevue said water was backing up, causing pressure to build up. Foundations of some homes had given way to the pressure and some were pushed up by the water's force. The Army Corps of Engineers was sending water pumps to the town to help pump out floodwaters that had reached depths up to 16 feet.

It was learned the Senate Democratic Policy Committee already has agreed to back a resolution urging the administration to substantially reduce U. S. manpower in Western Europe.

A Senate source said Democratic leaders discussed the issue Tuesday and agreed in advance the resolution would have their formal endorsement.

"The trend is fine," Mansfield said after the announcement of the forthcoming 15,000 man recall. "The only thing to do is accelerate it."

He said the United States is maintaining 2,700 bases, 400 of them major installations, covering 4,000 square miles in 39 foreign nations.

All told, he said, some 1.75 million troops, dependents and employees are based overseas.

Mansfield said it would represent real progress if those figures were cut in half.

The White House announced 14,900 men will be brought back to the United States during the next year "in the interests of lessening budget and balance of payments costs and of reducing the American presence overseas."

This, plus a reduction of some 5,100 civilian employees abroad, could lead to eventual balance of payments savings of $75 million, the White House said.

Civilian payroll cutbacks are to be general, including a 10 per cent reduction in South Vietnam.

But the military cuts do not apply to forces in Vietnam, South Korea, Berlin, to other areas of Southeast Asia where U.S. forces support military operations, or to manpower committee to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Presumably, this means reductions in U.S. forces in Spain, Japan, and Turkey.

Mead Buys Interest In Italian Firm

The Mead Corporation has purchased a part interest in an Italian firm, Cartiere Paolo Pigna. The company is an European manufacturer for converting paper products.

Announcement of the Mead purchase, a minority interest, was made jointly by Dr. Daniele Pesenti Pigna, general manager and managing director of the Italian company and Paul V. Allemang, Mead executive vice president.

The Italian firm is located in Alzano, Lombardo near Bergamo, Italy. The company employs 800 people and had sales in excess of $10 million in 1968. "It is an outstanding company in marketing strength in Italy and in their paper converting technology, in which we believe they have no equal in the world," commented Allemang.

Mead has enjoyed a profitable working relationship with Pigna during the last five years. Dr. Pigna, at 34, has served as a consultant and representative of Mead in Europe since 1965. He has been appointed assistant to the executive vice president of the Mead Corporation.

Push Bill For State Storm Relief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two members of the State Legislature have promised quick legislative action on a tax relief proposal for flood-stricken property owners in northern Ohio.

The legislation was called for by Gov. James A. Rhodes, who toured the damaged areas earlier this week. It is being sponsored by Reps. E. W. Lampson, R-38 Jefferson and Jim Thorpe, R-90 Alliance.

"We're most concerned that injured taxpayers get some relief from property taxes," the two legislators said in a joint statement Wednesday.

Lampson said he would begin hearings on the bill Tuesday.

The bill provides property tax reductions for the second half of the year to reflect damages to homes, farms and businesses damaged by last weekend's storms and floods.

Present law says an application for property tax reduction as a result of tornadoes, floods and other disasters must be made before July 1.

This means that persons hit by floods the past weekend would not be eligible to apply until July 1, 1970.

The Lampson-Thorpe proposal would extend the application deadline until Oct. 1.

The bill contains an emergency clause and would become effective upon the governor's signature.

Preliminary reports put property damage at more than $30 million and estimates now range as high as $70 million in a 23-county area.

In floor action Wednesday the Senate adopted 25-3 a bill to make Ohio's garnishment laws less harsh. The bill, backed by the Ohio Manufacturers Association, the AFL - CIO and the governor, allows a worker to keep more of his wages than under current law.

At present, up to 70 per cent of an employee's weekly wages may be garnished by a creditor. The bill limits this to 25 per cent of a worker's earnings after deductions.

In addition, the bill would require a creditor wanting to garnish a worker's wages to deposit $10 with the court to help defray the employer's cost of processing the garnishment.

The Senate defeated 15 - 14 after considerable debate a bill to require the licensing of the operators of the state's 1,005 nursing homes by July 1, 1970.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, said Ohio must conform with federal law that takes effect next July or face losing $30 million a year in Medicaid funds.

Opponents of the bill said the licensing could wait until the legislature comes into session next year.

The Senate, in other action, confirmed the appointment of Oscar L. Teagarden, of Oak Harbor as a member of the Ohio Turnpike Commission. Gov. Rhodes appointed him for a term ending July 1, 1977.

In other action, the House reconsidered the previous defeat of an emergency clause on a state office building proposal and passed it the second time around, 72-18.

emergency clause would have jeopardized federal money for the project.

A bill with an emergency clause goes into effect immediately after it is signed by the governor.

Chauffeur License Violation Heads Court Docket

Paul H. Lagore, Route 2, Ashville, was charged in Municipal Court Wednesday with operating a motor vehicle without a chauffeur's license.

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb found Lagore guilty of the charge and fined him $25 plus $9 costs.

Elmer Messer, Route 2, Ashville, was charged by the State Highway Patrol with failure to stop at a stop sign.

He forfeited $24 in Municipal Court on the charge.

Thomas E. Davis, 19, Amanda, was charged with speeding 50 miles per hour in a 35 zone. He forfeited $24 bond.

The court collected $191 in bond forfeitures from out-of-county motorists Wednesday.

Dr. Reed Speaks At Sertoma Meet

DR. GERALD REED

Featured speaker Wednesday at the weekly noon luncheon for the Circleville Sertoma Club was Dr. Gerald B. Reed of Worthington, Ohio.

Dr. Reed is a member of the Greater Worthington Sertoma Club, and spoke in his official capacity of District Governor of Sertoma's Southeast Ohio District, which is now composed of 24 clubs with a membership of 996 members to date.

Dr. Reed spoke on duties and responsibilities of each Sertoma member to "Serve Mankind" daily.

Ralph Ankrom is Program chairman for the July 16th meeting and promises to have a most stimulating speaker for the club.

"We're most concerned that injured taxpayers get some relief from property taxes," the two legislators said in a joint statement Wednesday.

Lampson said he would begin hearings on the bill Tuesday.

The bill provides property tax reductions for the second half of the year to reflect damages to homes, farms and businesses damaged by last weekend's storms and floods.

Present law says an application for property tax reduction as a result of tornadoes, floods and other disasters must be made before July 1.

This means that persons hit by floods the past weekend would not be eligible to apply until July 1, 1970.

The Lampson-Thorpe proposal would extend the application deadline until Oct. 1.

The bill contains an emergency clause and would become effective upon the governor's signature.

Preliminary reports put property damage at more than $30 million and estimates now range as high as $70 million in a 23-county area.

In floor action Wednesday the Senate adopted 25-3 a bill to make Ohio's garnishment laws less harsh. The bill, backed by the Ohio Manufacturers Association, the AFL-CIO and the governor, allows a worker to keep more of his wages than under current law.

At present, up to 70 per cent of an employee's weekly wages may be garnished by a creditor. The bill limits this to 25 per cent of a worker's earnings after deductions.

In addition, the bill would require a creditor wanting to garnish a worker's wages to deposit $10 with the court to help defray the employer's cost of processing the garnishment.

The Senate defeated 15-14 after considerable debate a bill to require the licensing of the operators of the state's 1,005 nursing homes by July 1, 1970.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, said Ohio must conform with federal law that takes effect next July or face losing $30 million a year in Medicaid funds.

Opponents of the bill said the licensing could wait until the legislature comes into session next year.

The Senate, in other action, confirmed the appointment of Oscar L. Teagarden, of Oak Harbor as a member of the Ohio Turnpike Commission. Gov. Rhodes appointed him for a term ending July 1, 1977.

In other action, the House reconsidered the previous defeat of an emergency clause on a state office building proposal and passed it the second time around, 72-18.

The bill permits the Ohio Building Authority to consider more than one site for a state office building.

Sponsors said defeat of the emergency clause would have jeopardized federal money for the project.

A bill with an emergency clause goes into effect immediately after it is signed by the governor.

Chauffeur License Violation Heads Court Docket

Paul H. Lagore, Route 2, Ashville, was charged in Municipal Court Wednesday with operating a motor vehicle without a chauffeur's license.

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb found Lagore guilty of the charge and fined him $25 plus $9 costs.

Elmer Messer, Route 2, Ashville, was charged by the State Highway Patrol with failure to stop at a stop sign.

He forfeited $24 in Municipal Court on the charge.

Thomas E. Davis, 19, Amanda, was charged with speeding 50 miles per hour in a 35 zone. He forfeited $24 bond.

The court collected $191 in bond forfeitures from out-of-county motorists Wednesday.

Dr. Reed Speaks At Sertoma Meet

DR. GERALD REED

Featured speaker Wednesday at the weekly noon luncheon for the Circleville Sertoma Club was Dr. Gerald B. Reed of Worthington, Ohio.

Dr. Reed is a member of the Greater Worthington Sertoma Club, and spoke in his official capacity of District Governor of Sertoma's Southeast Ohio District, which is now composed of 24 clubs with a membership of 906 members to date.

Dr. Reed spoke on duties and responsibilities of each Sertoma member to "Serve Mankind" daily.

Ralph Ankrom is Program chairman for the July 16th meeting and promises to have a most stimulating speaker for the club.

Marine . . .

Vietnam under President Nixon's 25,000-man cutback. On Tuesday the 3rd Battalion, 60th Infantry of the 9th Infantry Division flew to the United States for demobilization at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Spokesmen said the Marine regiment, unlike the composite Army battalion, is going to Okinawa as an intact unit. They said some of the Leathernecks have completed only two months of their Vietnam tours, whereas the 788 infantrymen who flew home three days ago all had completed a major portion of their tours and were pulled from several units.

No major sustained ground fighting was reported today but U.S. headquarters listed 29 overnight rocket and mortar attacks—double the total of the previous night. Twelve were termed significant in that they caused damage or casualties.

The command also reported North Vietnamese troops ambushed a U.S. Army convoy about 65 miles north of Saigon Wednesday, setting off sporadic fighting that lasted six hours. North Vietnamese casualties were reported as 22 killed, while four Americans were killed and 11 wounded.

Ohio Towns Still In Crisis

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A small town faced critical water pressure buildup today and most of another town's residents were still homeless in the aftermath of the July 4 storms that left at least 39 dead in northern Ohio.

Bellevue, an 8,000-population community on the Huron-Sandusky county line, was faced with pressure buildup in a network of streams under the town that serve as the community's sewage system.

In Central Holmes County, more than 1,000 remained homeless, including nearly all residents of tiny Killbuck. Red Cross disaster teams and National Guardsmen were in the area to help clean up.

The Holmes County Health Department urged all residents and volunteer workers in the area to receive free typhoid inoculation. No typhoid was reported, but Dr. A. J. Farney said there is danger of the disease whenever sewage systems are flooded.

A geologist in Bellevue said water was backing up, causing pressure to build up. Foundations of some homes had given way to the pressure and some were pushed up by the water's force. The Army Corps of Engineers was sending water pumps to the town to help pump out floodwaters that had reached depths up to 16 feet.

Man Pleads Guilty

CINCINNATI (AP) — William C. Schaiblein, 37, accused of embezzling $180,872 from Merchants Paper Co. where he was employed as a bookkeeper, pleaded guilty in Common Pleas Court Wednesday and a presentence investigation was ordered.
